TORONTO 'FATHERS' CHECK 'GIRLIE' SHOW

TORONTO (CP)—Four Toronto aldermen said today they intend to take in the Canadian National Exhibition "girlie" show Friday at its first performance to make sure it is decent.

The aldermen said they are prepared to take steps against "nudity and suggestiveness."

The aldermen are Donald Summerville, Philip Givens, Frank Clifton and Kenneth Ostrander.

Teamsters Paid Louis $2,500 Senator Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator John McClellan (Dem., Ark.) said today he has a report that former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis was paid $2,500 to sit at teamsters boss James R. Hoffa's recent bribery trial for two hours.

In Chicago, Louis said, "I didn't get twenty-five nuthin'."

The former champion said he and Hoffa had been friends for 10 or 12 years and had gone to the trial expecting to be called as a character witness. He was not called.

"I wish I had $2,500," he commented.

Hoffa was acquitted of the charge by a jury made up of eight Negroes and four white persons. Members of the jury said in later interviews that the racial issue had not entered into their decision.

McClellan told Hoffa about the report as the Midwest teamsters boss started a third day of quizzing by the Senate rackets investigating committee about his alleged links with New York racketeers. The senator heads the committee.

Hoffa replied: "If he was, he wasn't paid by Hoffa."

Said McClellan: "I didn't say he was paid by you. I said he was paid."

McClellan asked Hoffa to check to see whether any teamsters funds were used to pay Louis an appearance fee.

The committee contends that Hoffa, now the odds-on choice to succeed Dave Beck as president of the teamsters' union, formed an alliance several years ago with Johnny Dio to

PRISON, FINE FOR BREWSTER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Frank W. Brewster, western boss of the teamsters' union, today was sentenced to a year in jail and fined $1,000 for contempt of Congress.

Brewster was allowed to remain free on $1,000 bond pending an appeal. Brewster's conviction June 26 grew out of his refusal to produce records and answer questions before the Senate investigations sub-committee in January.

enhance Hoffa's power in the New York area.

Dio, a convicted extortionist, is in jail awaiting sentence.

Already in evidence is one recorded phone talk between Hoffa and Dio, back in February, 1953, in which they called each other "Jim" and "Jack."

The recording was made by New York police under court order.

Dio, then an official of another union, complained over the phone to Hoffa that the teamsters were horning in on Dio's efforts to organize New York City taxi drivers. Hoffa promised to take it up with Beck.

FOR CIVIL SERVANTS

Agreement Near On Bargaining

Attorney General Bonner hinted today that the government is close to agreement with the B.C. Government Employees' Association on a new bargaining procedure for the province's 14,000 civil servants.

It may not be necessary for Chief Justice Gordon Sloan to hold "full-scale hearings" into the matter, the attorney-general said.

"While there is not complete agreement, there is a general agreement between the parties on what is required," Mr. Bonner said.

Chief Justice Sloan was appointed a one-man Board of Reference in the settlement of the threatened civil service strike last month.

Both sides met with the Chief Justice here Wednesday and agreed to continue joint discussions. They will meet him again Sept. 3.

The Board of Reference was set up to inquire into the bargaining procedure laid down in the Civil Service Act and make recommendations.

Both the government and the employees' association agreed to accept Chief Justice Sloan's findings.

The association has demanded that government employees be given full bargaining rights, with recourse to arbitration if necessary.

At their first meeting last month with Chief Justice Sloan, both sides agreed to "narrow down" the issue between themselves before the inquiry.

They have been meeting since that time and now appear to be close to agreement on the overall issue.

Flattopped Toppers Suggested When Queen Sees Football Game

LONDON (UP)—John Taylor, Britain's top arbiter of men's fashions, got to musing recently about Queen Elizabeth's visit to the North Carolina-Maryland football game in October and what should the dignitaries wear.

Top hats and tails, of course, he thought, or more properly, morning clothes.

And then he got to thinking about those top hats which would cut off the view of those sitting behind. What would you do? Flatten them a little? Bore holes in them?

Obviously not, thought Taylor, who is the editor of the trade magazine Tailor and Cutter and whose word on men's

... for football?

But his musings had been aloud and little did he know the furor his thoughts had caused. Fashions in law in the British Isles.

The first set of rumors hit Saville Row, the capital of English gentlemen's tailoring: "Somebody is cutting the tops off of top hats for the royal party to wear in Baltimore for the football game."

One version got into a London newspaper quoting the Tailor and Cutter's famous editor as prescribing stovepipe hats with abbreviated chimneys.

"It all happened because a chap from Baltimore rang me up and asked what the mayor of Baltimore should wear to that football game," Taylor explained today.

"I naturally thought of morning dress, as we call it. It is not so silly a suggestion. There is an old tradition in England that the directors of football clubs and guests sitting in their boxes wear formal dress."

"That style has gone out now, but why couldn't the Maryland officials resurrect it in honor of the Queen's visit?"

That was when he got to throwing about the problem of a top hat and how it would block the view of fans.

"Now if you cut the crown a little ... narrowed the brim ... he mused. "Know what a Gauchos hat looks like."

"Of course I was not serious," Taylor said. "It was just a joke—but what I started"

Wedged in Two Walls 20 Hours, Tot Saved

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UP)—A chubby, three-year-old girl, wedged between two buildings for 20 hours, was dug out by a wrecking company crew today.

The child, Eileen Fahey, was crying as rescuers brought her through a cheering and weeping crowd of 1,000 persons.

Eileen was taken to Rhode Island Hospital in a waiting ambulance.

"Thank God," her father, John M. Fahey, 39, a railroad brakeman, said when the girl was lifted from her cramped tomb through a hole hammered by rescuers.

She had slipped into the eight-inch space Wednesday, apparently while chasing a kitten.

Through the night, 400 searchers hunted through basements, box cars and along the banks of the nearby Seekonk River trying to find her. This morning, 19-year-old Gerald DeRosches spotted Eileen when he leaned out a window to shake breakfast crumbs from a table cloth. He saw her chubby arm extended upward.

She was 15 feet back inside the space between a low garage and a two-story tenement. Her head was pinioned between the buildings. She was almost silent—barely whimpering.

One red shoe was pulled out first. Her father paced the floor of the garage, holding the tiny shoe in his hand, red-eyed from a sleepless night of searching.

"Hold it, baby doll," said Battalion Fire-Chief James Coleman as blows were rained on the wall.

Oil was poured over her head to ease it out from the narrow space.

The brown-haired child cried softly as she was hauled to safety.

Montreal Man In Coma Guarded

MONTREAL (CP)—A police guard was placed today on the hospital room of an unconscious man believed the key to the collapse of plans for three chartered flights carrying nearly 200 passengers to and from Europe. Police said they would question him later.

Police said the man, a native of Finland, 33, is believed to be the travel agent who collected round-trip fares for the abortive special charter flights.

(British United Press said the man was Jean Nyman, 33, and quoted Montreal police as saying he would be charged with attempted suicide if he recovers.)

A group of 71 was left stranded Saturday at Paris on the homeward leg of a flight. A second fell through before it started this week at Montreal's Dorval airport. Sixty passengers showed up and waited in vain. A third flight, due to leave conscious, Frankfurt, Germany, Sept. 11, has been cancelled. Non-payment of funds by the agent to the airline was blamed in each cancellation.

All the passengers were either new Canadians or Canadian residents visiting homelands.

The man now in a Ste. Adele, Que., hospital was found Wednesday in a hotel in the Laurentian town. He was almost un-another to a lawyer. A third slip of paper bore a list of names with amounts of money noted beside each.

The man's wife was summoned to his bedside, and she identified him as the proprietor of a Montreal travel agency.

Another 65 persons are in Europe now—on a flight arranged by the same man, known to his clients as Mr. Lindstrom. Their return flight is set for Sept. 11, but it is believed that their plane has not been paid for either.

Spokesman for the groups said each passenger paid $350 for the return trip. The total amount involved is said to be at least $60,000.

The external affairs department in Ottawa is studying the problem of getting the stranded vacationers back to Canada.

8 Accidental Deaths Worst Toll in Years

By The Canadian Press

While British Columbia enjoyed one of the warmest days of the summer Wednesday, seven persons died accidental deaths, making it the worst weekday for fatalities in years.

The causes of death were varied—a drowning, a mill accident, a fall from a hotel window, two traffic accidents, an accidental shooting, and a fire.

In Victoria, Karen Ramsey, 9, died after being struck by a truck. (See page 13 for story.)

Jerry Williams, 17, of Lytton, was drowned in the Thompson River when he was caught in a strong current where the Thompson is joined by the Fraser. In Lytton hospital John Anthony Maynard, 16, of Shaw Springs, died from injuries suffered when his car rolled off an embankment Tuesday.

At Kamloops, Orval Giauque died after a fall Tuesday from a second-storey window in a hotel. At Craigellachie, four-year-old Russell Hall Walters was shot by a .22 rifle held by his brother Lawrence, 7. Russell died today.

In Vancouver, Brian Singh, about 70, died of burns suffered when a two-storey wooden house was badly damaged. And at Fraser Mills, 20 miles east, John Kenny, 42, was crushed to death in a barking machine.

Eight-year-old Douglas Wetmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wetmore of Vancouver, was drowned Wednesday night at Okanagan Landing near Vernon. An inquest will be held Friday.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Father and our God, we would ever be mindful of Thy love and care. Grant us relief from the burdens and sins of life. Forgive us for our wilful disobedience to Thy will. Renew our spirits by Thy divine indwelling and so give us strength for the duties of this day and every day. May our judgments be tempered with understanding, and our faith glorified with compassion. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

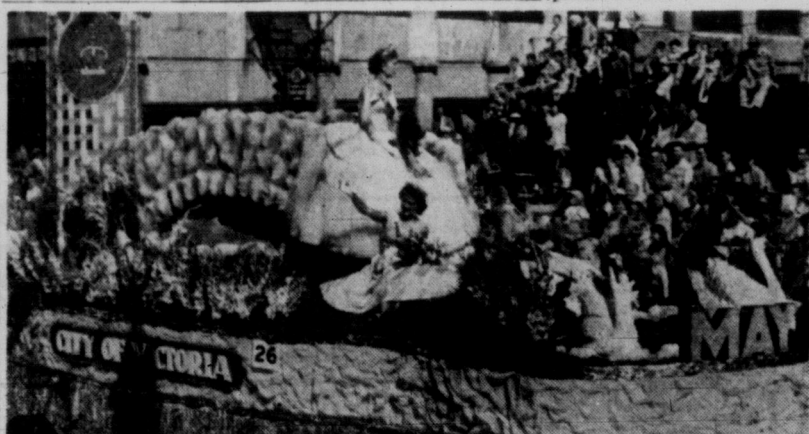

'Skid Road' PNE Parade Criticized

VANCOUVER (CP)—The "Skid Road" route of a Pacific National Exhibition parade which brought record crowds into downtown Vancouver was criticized after the parade ended Wednesday.

Newspaper reporters said street-corner drunks hurled vulgarities at beauty queens and drum majorettes as the procession wended its way through drab streets in the city's East End.

"The best Skid Road parade in history," said one PNE official.

MAINLANDERS CHEERED VICTORIA BEAUTIES

Victoria trademark, combination of pretty girls, cluster lamps and hanging flower baskets, won loud ovation as city float took part in Vancouver's Pacific National Exhibition opening parade Wednesday. Cheering was graciously acknowledged by Queen Sue Pearson and Princesses Grace Chew and Annlyn Florence. Same float won acclaim in Victoria Day parade here.

U.S.-Canada Trade Talks Set for Fall

John D. Icke
Keep in Touch
For Parley

OTTAWA (BUP)—The joint Canadian-American cabinet committee on trade and economic problems will meet in Washington "early in October," Prime Minister John Diefenbaker said today.

Speaking to reporters at the Supreme Court following the swearing-in of two new cabinet ministers—Health Minister J. A. McNeill and Northern Affairs Minister F. Alvin Hamilton, Mr. Diefenbaker said the Canadian representatives at the meeting would be Finance Minister Donald Fleming, Trade Minister Gordon Churchill and Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness.

"The many economic problems affecting both nations will be discussed at the meeting," the prime minister said. "There are agricultural problems and also matters connected with the general sale and export of other commodities such as lead and zinc."

Mr. Diefenbaker announced that the committee would meet sometime this year following the visit here of U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles last month. Today statement, however, was the first indication as to the exact date of the meeting.

NOTHING DEFINITE

Discussions for a meeting between himself and President Eisenhower are going on, Mr. Diefenbaker said, but he had nothing to announce "at the moment."

He said he would announce shortly the names of the Canadian delegation which will attend the fall General Assembly of the United Nations. While he would not go into particulars on the personnel, Mr. Diefenbaker intimated that he will head the delegation himself in his capacity as external affairs minister.

The UN General Assembly opens a special session on Hungary Sept. 10, to be followed by its regular fall meeting Sept. 17.

Missiles For All Services

FARNHAM, Que. (CP)—Defence Minister Pearkes said at a press conference Wednesday guided missile weapons will "become a tri-service effort in the future."

Mr. Pearkes, here to attend a sports program staged by 1,400 camping cadets, said the first Canadian Anti-Aircraft Regiment, to be equipped with guided missiles, will be "an experimental unit."

"All manner of weapons—Canadian, British American—will be tried out," he said. "It is too early to say if the first anti-aircraft ever will be operationally equipped."

The minister said it is not known when the CF-105 jet fighter will be in squadron service, but he said piloted aircraft will not become obsolete, "in my lifetime, at least."

GEORGE COOKE
... farm life easier now.

NONAGENARIAN LOOKS BACK

Each Generation Weaker But Wiser

By TONY DICKASON

Each generation gets weaker, but wiser.

So says George Cooke, who has seen more than three generations, and thus has full title to pass an opinion. He was 91 Wednesday.

A birthday party was held for the kindly, smiling gentleman, relatives and friends attending, at the home of Mrs. William Brown, 1940 Ernest.

Mr. Cooke, who up to 15 years ago had farmed since 1908 at Sooke, seems slightly envious of today's tools utilized to clear land and operate farms.

He "worked pretty hard," for wages that fall miserably to compare with anything like today's.

While it appears inevitable that outstanding oldsters claim not to smoke and drink, and nearly without exception say they go to bed early, Mr. Cooke is a unique exception. He admits to smoking a pipe years ago!

HAND CLEARING

Born in Lincolnshire, England, he came to Victoria in "November of 1890" and started a small dairy farm at Sooke. He cleared close to six acres, by hand, which makes him somewhat keen on today's power tools.

"I was really en route to San Francisco with another fellow, but liked this area so much I stayed here."

He was one of seven children, and the youngest died first. He is one of two remaining; a sister, "five years older than I am," lives in St. Thomas, Ont.

GOLD RUSH

Mr. Cooke is a veteran of the Klondike gold rush. He summed up: "No, didn't make any money."

When he arrived to farm here—and he lived all his time on Otter Point Road—there were only about five families in the area. A horse-drawn stage connected Sooke with Victoria.

Those were the days when he would shoot deer, quite legally, whether bucks or does, and sell them to the nearest butcher.

He married a Scots girl in Victoria in 1910. There were no children, but his numerous friends of the district help in some small way to compensate for this.

Cooke's Hill on Otter Point Road is named after the fine-looking man.

His birthday cake was inscribed "Happy Birthday, George."

He had it, too.

Truckers Buck Rail Freight Cuts

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's truckers have launched a fight against wide-ranging reductions in freight rates put into effect by the railways in Western Canada.

In an application to the board of transport commissioners made public today, Canadian Trucking Associations asks for disallowance of the lowered rail rates on a variety of traffic in the four western provinces.

The rates were instituted by the railways last April as a "carload incentive" plan to gain traffic which the railways considered they had lost because previous charges were too high.

The application of CTA representing 6,000 haulage firms—raises the prospect of a sharp legal fight over the status of that federation before the transport board.

Truckers, who are under provincial jurisdiction in their regulation, have never before been before the board as pleaders. However, the board has power to hear any "interested party" in a railway case and the question will be whether the association can qualify as such in this case.

RED CHINA TRIPS NEAR APPROVAL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration is reported ready to announce soon that about 20 American news correspondents will be permitted to go to Red China on a six-months trial basis.

The announcement, expected in the next day or so, would end an eight-year blackout on eyewitness news stories written by American reporters operating on the China mainland—provided the Communists still are willing to let them in.

Tot Trapped For 5 Hours

BIG RIVER, Sask. (CP)—A two-year-old boy exploring his uncle's farmyard tumbled 17 feet Wednesday into a partly-finished well and was trapped there for nearly five hours by the converging clay walls.

Shivering—he was clad only in short pants—and exhausted from almost constant crying, Kimdale Smith was rescued when 100 volunteers wielding shovels and hoes drove a trench to the level of the shaft-bottom, cut a hole in the wall of his prison and plucked him out just before midnight.

He came up to the arms of his distraught mother—smiling, cold, but without a scratch.

'High-Spirited' Passengers Under Attack From Pilots

WASHINGTON (UP)—The boozy airborne antics of a love-crazed lady, a 200-pound gunman who said he "could fly the plane" and some happy fire-builders feature a new airline pilots' attack on tipping aboard airliners.

The pilots' association says it all happened while airliners zipped across the nation during the last two years.

The report cited:
Four instances of drunken passengers forcing their way into the cockpit.

Eight instances of inebriated passengers creating such disturbances in cabins that flight crew members were forced to leave their cockpit duties to quell them.

Three cases of unscheduled emergency landings in order to remove drunken passengers whose behavior was threatening a plane's safety.

Three instances of intoxicated passengers damaging windows, doors or pressurization devices in flight.

Five cases of drunken passengers creating fire hazards in flight.

An intoxicated passenger pointing a gun at a stewardess when he asked her for coffee.

Included was the following report from a pilot on a Honolulu-Los Angeles flight:

"A female passenger, having too many drinks in the lounge of a Boeing 377 (Stratocruiser), after driving all other passengers from the lounge with vulgar and suggestive language, proceeded to disrobe and shout demands that the purser satisfy her sexual desires."

Mr. Adenauer On Trial

NEXT MONTH ONE OF THE ablest statesmen of our times will appeal to his people for another term of office. The election in West Germany, where the life of Chancellor Adenauer's Government is at stake, will be among the most important elections, both for the free world and for Russia, since the last war.

It is because the election is so important, and so doubtful that the West is doing everything possible to assist Mr. Adenauer while Russia, in the person of Mr. Khrushchev, is doing everything possible to defeat him. For his policies have long been and continue to be a pillar of Western strategy and a major obstacle to the strategy of Russia.

Until now as the friend of the West and the enemy of Communism, Mr. Adenauer has managed to maintain his government with extraordinary skill but recently he and his Christian Democrats have met a serious challenge from the Social Democrats on a clear-cut issue, the central issue of the September election.

Mr. Adenauer, like all Germans, is eager for the reunification of his country, the end of that postwar split which has become a running sore in the struggle for world power.

But he accepts the view of the Western allies that reunification must be based on free elections in both segments of Germany. He refuses to consider a deal between the two German Governments, without elections, knowing that Russia's only purpose, through its East German stooges, is to ignore the people's true wishes and to bring a reunited nation under actual, if disguised, Communist control. He believes, moreover, that if West Germany maintains its firm alliance with the West and refuses to fall into a Communist diplomatic trap Russia eventually will have to yield East Germany as untenable.

The opposition Socialist party holds, on the contrary, that all Germany can be unified only if West Germany quits the Western alliance and negotiates directly with Russia.

Thus the defeat of the Adenauer Government and the election of the Social Democrats would produce a drastic change in the politics of Europe and a gaping vacuum in the West's strategy.

It was into this brittle and explosive situation where angels might fear to tread that Mr. Khrushchev rushed a few days ago. Undoubtedly, by threatening West Germany, France, Britain and the United States with atomic destruction in case of war he hoped to terrify the West German electors and to assist Mr. Adenauer's political opponents.

As usual, he overdid it. The net effect of his ceremonial visit to Berlin apparently is to assist Mr. Adenauer and damage Mr. Ollenhauer, the Socialist leader.

Mr. Ollenhauer is willing to go a long way and to take large risks in his effort to negotiate a reunification agreement with Russia. There are limits, however, to his concessions and Mr. Khrushchev seems to have exceeded them.

The Russian boss pronounced himself in favor of a loose German confederation (undoubtedly the first easy step toward a fully Communist Germany later on) as proposed by Mr. Grotewohl, the Communist premier of East Germany.

Mr. Ollenhauer already has rejected that project. Thus Mr. Khrushchev's recent tour has quickly undermined Mr. Ollenhauer's argument that Russia would be reasonable in negotiations with West Germany. Russia's true purposes must be clearer than ever to the German voters.

It may be suspected, indeed, that Mr. Khrushchev's gaudy and rather cranky performance in Berlin and his signature on a new agreement of "friendship" with East Germany reflect his belief that Mr. Adenauer cannot be pushed out of the way next month, that the German schism will remain for a long time yet.

But the chancelleries of the West will not breathe easily until the West German polls have closed and, as they hope, their reliable friend is firmly installed again in office at Bonn.

The Big Change

IT WAS REMARKED HERE THE other day that the new Canadian restrictions on immigration represented a great change in the Conservative Party's thinking since the June election. The change was even greater than we supposed.

Mr. Grant Dexter, dean of the Ottawa Press Gallery, has been studying the record and now reproduces a remarkable speech made by Mr. Diefenbaker before the Ethnic Press Association in Toronto on May 25 last, as reported in The Globe and Mail.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that Australia had proved that the best immigration policy was one which brought in about 4 per cent of the population annually.

"Such a yardstick," he declared, "would establish the target of 640,000 immigrants in a year, or more than four times the number that came to Canada in 1956."

Does It Work?

THE DEBATE ON TREATMENT of drug addicts has been revived by opinions voiced at recent meetings. At one the statement was made that a distinction is drawn between the "criminal" addict and the "professional" addict. The former is prosecuted, the latter is shown consideration, goes the argument.

In the second discussion the plea has been revived to provide free drugs for addicts—the basis for that plea being that a person under the compulsion of the habit would not be forced to turn to crime for funds to buy black-market supplies if he or she were treated as an invalid and given narcotics by prescription.

These are familiar arguments. None has so far been conclusive.

But one question should command attention. Does the present method of handling the narcotic addict work? If there is any indication that it does, the evidence is not well known to the public.

If the present system does not work, why continue it?

There's No Limit to It

PREMIER JANOS KADAR OF Hungary, whose lips and hands are operated by strings from Moscow, has come up with the latest in communist hypocrisy. Visiting Vienna, he has criticized the United Nations for its June 20 report on the Hungarian uprising, particularly because the report was written from the testimony of refugees who fled from their strife-torn homeland.

The report denounced Russian intervention in the Hungarian uprising, verified the authenticity of the struggle as a sincere and widespread revolt of the people as a whole, and contained the significant remark that there "has been no evidence of popular support for Mr. Kadar's Government."

Most apt, in view of Mr. Kadar's present protest, however, is the fact that for months an on-the-spot U.N. investigation of the revolt was refused by Russia through its puppet government in Budapest. Even Mr. Hammarskjöld, the secretary-general of the United Nations of which Hungary is a member, was refused entry.

Small wonder that the investigating committee had to depend on the experiences of eyewitnesses who offered evidence. Small wonder, too, in the light of what has been revealed, that the communists did not want the world to know what had taken place when the Red Army crushed the Hungarian people's bid for freedom.

For Premier Kadar to announce now that if the U.N. had wanted to examine the situation properly it could have found plenty of opportunities to enter the country, is as bald-faced a piece of cynical falsehood as communism has produced for some time. Beyond a possible telegram of congratulation from Mr. Khrushchev, the statement is not likely to increase "evidence of popular support for Mr. Kadar's Government."

Progress at 6 A.M.

A FEW carping critics object to air-planes landing on our little lake and taking off early in the morning but I am glad to say that a great majority of the natives welcome these signs of progress.

As they say, the cheerful sound of the internal combustion engine immediately overhead adds the final touch of grandeur to woodland life. The speedboat is good enough in its way. It provides a continuous background music much superior to those sounds of lapping water, sighing trees and birdsong that used to serve us in more primitive times. But only the airplane can provide the real crescendo and natural symphony of the wilderness.

LAST Saturday morning, for example, on an occasion on which the natives were accustomed to lie in bed even until eight o'clock — a slothful and repulsive habit — a big yellow plane greeted the dawn at six a.m. with a cheerful shout as Adam must have greeted the first morning of creation, but louder.

Everyone on the lake without exception was awakened from his sullen slumbers as that beautiful machine, like a giant wasp (but louder) moved majestically up and down the water, warming up its engine before it took some important man of business over to his office in Vancouver.

What could be more pleasant than this early-morning reminder of civilization's advances? What could be more efficient than an alarm clock of five hundred horse power and twenty thousand decibels calling everyone to his labors at daybreak?

OF COURSE a minority of backward folk objected but there are always those who object to progress. The world cannot stand still. It must not be allowed to lie in bed until seven or eight o'clock during the holiday season.

Besides, as most of the natives were quick to observe, the continual swoop and dive of planes over the tree tops and into the lake adds greatly to the adventure of living. It opens a new and lively chapter in the dull routine of the summer camp.

Not long ago there was no fun, no spice, no sporting life in here. We saw nothing faster than a rowboat or a canoe and the boredom was hardly endurable.

Then came the first clumsy kickers that made no more sound than an eggbeater and provided no risk at all. A little later the speedboat appeared and with it, the new day.

AT ONCE the canoeist and the oarsman met a manly challenge and entered with zest into a game of hide-and-seek as the speedboats cut across his bow, buzzed around him like mosquitoes and tested his will to survive.

Happily not many survived. The species of powerless navigators disappeared.

A superior species—its superiority proved by its speed of thirty miles an hour—took possession in the natural evolutionary process.

But the triumph of the speedboat owner was brief, only a year or two. A still more superior species dropped one day out of the sky and introduced that element of real danger which nourishes the strong and worthy virtues of life and eliminates the weak and unworthy.

SOME may say that a few airplanes dashing in among speedboats, water skiers and swimmers at dusk is no great hazard and hardly a sufficient challenge to keep life interesting, but for the old-timers it seems sporting enough.

At any rate, it is to be hoped that the Legislature will keep its long nose out of our affairs and not pass some ridiculous regulation against airplanes on crowded lakes. If the dull-witted, killjoy authorities hear about them then the first thing you know they will prohibit our innocent pastime of life-and-death.

They have already banned the hideous evil of Sunday baseball in Vancouver because the poor may enjoy it while the rich play golf quite legally. We don't want them banning Sunday airplanes, the ultimate sport of the rich, while the poor cower in the woods.

THIS, after all, is a free country. Its freedom won on many a noble battlefield, and freedom means that any small minority, if they have enough money, must be allowed to annoy and terrify the vast majority, or what is democracy for?

Let there be no interference with airplanes on any lake and summer resort in Canada. They have been quiet, dull and boring far too long. They need the cheerful, staccato voice of civilization at 6 a.m. to awaken them from the sleep of ages. They need danger to keep them on their toes or under the bed.

Thus when a misguided native shot down an airplane with a bow and arrow this criminal act was universally condemned on our lake. The great majority said the killer should have used an ack-ack gun. We all believe in progress here.

INCENTIVES COUNT

In 1939, we had a labor efficiency of 75 per cent, at a time when there were approximately 15,000 unemployed in Preston, and now we have a labor efficiency of 120 with full employment in the district. Admittedly the management have made their contribution by improvement of methods and changes in machinery, but there is no doubt about it at all that the effort we're getting from our employees today with the application of our incentive schemes, plus the good labor relations we have here, is a far better thing than we had in 1939.

Another Opinion

The Times and Colonist and Reeve Ash are to be congratulated on their victory at the Saanich polls on Saturday last and condolences offered to those councillors who sought vainly for additional space to enable the municipal employees to render efficient service to their municipality.

We may assume the "Brother Twelve Outfit" will receive the same 100 per cent, one-sided newspaper backing when they embark on their campaign to step into the three council seats which become vacant in December. The Victoria Chamber of Commerce will also no doubt throw its weight behind these 12 men.

Fabulous Indeed

The news on the front page of the Times, Aug. 15, viz., "Wenner-Gren Chiefs Survey Trench Area," struck me with the impact of a shock. Aladdin and his wonderful lamp shrink from the fabulous to the commonplace in comparison. Just to look at the Rocky Mountain Trench area cost the new owners $6,000,000.

What an opportunity for the press to turn its most competent correspondents loose to tackle this story for popular consumption. The material would be an "Arch" through which gleams that "Un-travelled World" whose margin fades forever and forever as he moves." (Tennyson—slightly modified.)

Truth is mightier than fiction, so the correspondent would find no holds barred. He would find the word fabulous without meaning and whatever news should be uncovered would be accepted by the most incredulous readers.

The world is waiting for the lid to be lifted.

Strange Growths

I would like to express sympathy with the guide to the Butchart Gardens about whom one of your correspondents complains because he was unable to conceal the fact that he did not like the examples of what is known, I believe as "Modernistic Statuary" recently placed in these gardens. I would think that it would be very difficult to find people who really appreciated the gardens — and at the same time liked these productions.

To me the two things are quite incompatible and, if you really dislike anything, it is not easy to conceal it.

After all a guide to the gardens is — a guide to the gardens — not to extraneous objects.

Broader Basis

Our object in suggesting a distinctive Canadian flag is to obtain a broader basis of union throughout the nation. To attempt to achieve this on any other basis than the Christian faith is courting failure, as this faith is an unchanging foundation and the belief of the great majority of our citizens and the peoples that migrate to these shores. This contact in their land of adoption will make them feel more at home and more likely to remain.

Our present flag, while illustrating the union of the three kingdoms couched in the British Isles, actually represents a separation of these peoples to one another in the kingdom of Canada, as well as a separation of other Canadians

Civil Rights Repercussions

BEHIND the shifting, complex, often fascinating drama of the struggle over civil rights, there is one simple political reality—the Negro vote in the key industrial states in the North. That is, of course, in hard political terms, what the fight has been all about.

To understand just how crucial the Negro vote is, consider these key states — New York, Pennsylvania, and Illinois. It is almost inconceivable that any Presidential candidate could lose those three states and win an election. And in all three states, the Negro vote can be absolutely decisive.

According to the estimate of Louis Harris, a reliable political statistician, the Negro vote in these three states ranges from about 6 per cent of the total in Pennsylvania, to about 7.5 per cent in Illinois, with New York in the middle with about 6.5 per cent.

Translated into actual votes for 1960, the next Presidential year, this works out to about 450,000 Negro votes in New York, 350,000 in Illinois, and 385,000 in Pennsylvania.

Now consider what has been happening to this Negro vote.

Solid Vote

In 1948 Harry S. Truman got at least 80 per cent of the Negro vote, according to reliable estimates, and probably more. The proposition could reasonably be defended that Truman owed his amazing triumph in that year to Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, who forced a strong civil rights plank on the Democratic convention, and thus presented Truman with an almost solid Negro vote.

In 1952, Adlai Stevenson held the bulk of the Negro vote, polling better than three out of four votes among Negroes. But by 1956, partly in response to the Supreme Court decisions, there was a sharp drop-off in the Democratic pluralities.

In New York state, for example, the Democratic Negro vote fell off to about sixty-three per cent. The Republicans thus took well over a third of what had been an almost monolithic Democratic vote.

Now suppose that, as a result of the Administration's decision to press for a serious civil rights bill, the Republicans succeed in attracting half, or even somewhat less than half, of the Negro vote in the key Northern states. For the devastating effect on the political position of the Democrats, consider a couple of specific examples.

who are so by birth, and these number in the millions.

Picnic?

Having had a balcony view of the city's picnic on our large park, the Roundabout, why not move it to the corner of Fort and Douglas where more people could see it? There are just as many trucks and private cars and buses trying to get where they want to go at this time of day, home.

I have traveled from east to west in Canada but have not yet seen a playground situated on the main streets of cities or towns.

I don't know what organization held the picnic, but if it was the city fathers it was a poor one. No races for the kiddies or horse-shoe pitching for the men. I suppose the picnic cost the ratepayers of Victoria another mill on their taxes. Why not rip the whole thing up and let the people go home as they wish? We had a little fountain at one time. Why not put it back to that?

PERRY WALTON.

Build a Bridge

The Fountain Circle keeps going around in circles. Why not start a buy-a-bridge campaign like the totem shares. I'm sure a lot of people would rather see an overpass over the circle than a statue and it would be a lovely birthday gift to the city. Mr. Bennett should start the ball rolling by a good gift from his share of licence plates, oil and gas he gets from motorists. Our highways minister should give you a nice slice of his cake too.

The structure can go on all winter here and be nearly, if not all, finished by the date of the opening. It's of more importance to all motorists and business men than a statue.

MRS. LUCY NEWBIGIN.

814 Hereward Rd.

Passable Condition

Many of the grumbling motorists who have had springs broken, tires ruined and their cars generally shook up have traveled far beyond the confines of the B.C. border and seen many similar road-building projects where the roads on the project have been maintained in passable condition at all times. In many instances you can buzz along at 40 beside similar construction to that on the Malahat.

These grumbling motorists contend that it would have taken no great effort on the part of the contractor to have run a scraper over the more or less impassable section of road periodically to have kept it in at least fair condition.

In all probability there was a clause in the Malahat contract to the effect that roads on the project be kept in passable condition.

JUSTIFIABLY GRUMBLING MOTORIST.

Wrong K

I wish to correct a mistake I made in my letter to the Victoria Times of Aug. 19, in which I gave credit for the raising of funds themselves to the Kiwanis, instead of coming to the City coffers for it.

I find I made a very grave mistake in doing this, by saying the Kiwanis, instead of the Kinsmen's society which does much good work on their own.

Civil Rights Repercussions

In 1954, Averell Harriman was elected Governor of New York by less than 15,000 votes over Sen. Irving Ives. According to Harris's analysis, Harriman polled a whopping seventy-nine per cent of the Negro vote. Negro voters thus supplied Harriman with his margin of victory several times over. Two years later, the Democrats had dropped some 90,000 Negro votes to the Republicans, or about six times the number of votes Ives needed to defeat Harriman.

Or take another close race—the victory of Sen. Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania over the Republican incumbent, Sen. James Duff, in 1956. Again, Clark just squeaked in, with a plurality of less than 18,000 votes. Clark, despite the Supreme Court, carried the Negro vote by a huge seventy-six per cent margin, which was worth about 150,000 votes to him.

Other examples could be cited, like that of Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, who owes about sixty per cent of his 1954 plurality to the Negro vote.

Nose Dive

Suppose the Negro vote had dropped off as sharply in Pennsylvania as it did in Illinois, where it nose-dived from 75 percent in 1952 to 58 per cent in 1956. Then Duff would be in the Senate, by a comfortable majority, and Clark would be practicing law.

Other examples could be cited, like that of Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, who owes about sixty per cent of his 1954 plurality to the Negro vote.

But the lesson is clear enough. If the Republicans can attract something approaching half the Negro vote in the Northern states, the Republican party will then be the normal majority party in those states.

Big States

Read the role of big states in which the Negroes can be expected to poll five percent or more of the total vote—not only New York, Pennsylvania, and Illinois, but such states as Michigan, Ohio, New Jersey, California. It then becomes clear what is at stake in the civil rights struggle—nothing less than the future balance of political power in the nation.

What is not clear is just how the Negro voters themselves have reacted to the complex, shifting struggle over civil rights. Have the Democrats been badly hurt in their eyes, and the Republicans greatly helped? Or is the result a stand-off?

In an attempt to sense the answers to these questions, this reporter shortly plans an expedition to Harlem, the world's greatest Negro city, to talk about the civil rights issue with the Negro voters themselves.

The Centennial Hounds

What's that, my boy? You don't know anything about the history of B.C.? Well, you'd better start getting some of it under your belt and into your mind because the centennial hounds are beginning to bay, and, by this time next year, they'll be in full historic cry!

1858-1958. But don't kid yourself that you can get away with only knowing what happened in that 100 years. Nossir. To see the whole picture, you must know what happened in this neck of the woods before 1858.

You must have some idea of what was happening on the rest of the continent, and why Britain, Russia, Spain and the young United States came into the history of B.C.

Because after all, our history didn't just happen on its own.

Yes, 1958 is going to be a tough year.

Think of the centennial year as a birthday banquet, if you like. And think of all you'll have to digest as you go through it from soup to nuts.

There'll be the voyages of discovery, apocryphal and otherwise.

There'll be the Maritime Fur Trade and the poor sea-otter. (Quick now, give me ten British, American, Spanish and Indian names connected with this period.)

With luck—and a bit of intellectual effort—you'll get the atmosphere of the coastal exploration, and the different atmosphere of the exploration that came overland across the mountains. (Where did they almost meet in 1793? Why would that meeting have been so dramatic? Who were the two famous men I'm thinking of?)

That first overland exploration was by fur traders.

Who were the three you simply mustn't forget?

Why were the rivers so important?

Well, let's see if you can do a little better on the forts. Perhaps you can tell me the significance of Fort McLeod, Fort St. James, Fort Fraser, and Fort George? They're all in the same portion of what is now B.C. Why?

And now that you've put your mind on forts and fur, you'd better switch it on to gold.

What did gold do to us in terms of population, communication and political development? Why was 1858 chosen as the centennial year? After all, Fort Victoria was earlier than 1858, and we've always liked to think that we're the whole of British Columbia!

No, don't hold your head in your hands and moan in that exaggerated way. It's not all bunk by any means.

The Centennial is going to bring its share of headaches and carnage on the roads. There'll be a lot of nonsense talked, a lot of quarrelling over local projects, and a lot of gloating over the tourist dollars that'll pour into the province.

But, behind the promotion part and publicity stunts, the problems and the plans, the feuds and fun, a centennial year is serious and magnificent.

It's a stock taking really. A chance to stop bouncing and rushing. A chance to stand back and look at what we are and where we come from.

Perhaps we shall know then where we're going, and what's the best thing we can do for posterity.

Tic Douloureux

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Tic douloureux is a horrible disease that comes usually to old ladies. It is a terrible neuralgia that comes in spells, sometimes touched off by talking, or touching a certain part of the face, or eating, or getting in a draft. Sometimes I can recognize these people on the street because the woman has a shawl around her neck and face.

The sad thing is that usually these people get all their good teeth removed—which never does a particle of good. There is a type of terrible neuralgia due to the presence of a dead pulp under a filling, but usually one can recognize this by noting that the awful jab of pain comes when one eats or drinks something hot. This causes the gas in the pulp chamber to expand and press on the dying nerve.

In true tic douloureux the only procedures that do any good are, first, to have the big ganglion on the fifth nerve at the base of the brain injected, either with boiling water or alcohol. If, later, the pain comes back, the ganglion can be uncovered with the new type of operation, or it can be destroyed with the old type of operation. This work has to be done by an expert who can be found in a big medical centre.

FITLESS EPILEPSY

Since I have written about persons who have equivalents of epilepsy, or have a type of epilepsy in which there are no fits, or in which perhaps there were a few in early childhood, many persons have asked me where to go to get relief. There must be a few million of these unhappy people in the world. Most of them tell me that they have a violent and sometimes vile temper. Some are distressed because they feel so antagonistic to so many people, or they get into fights with people when they tried hard not to. Some are highly nervous and go to psychiatrists.

Many of them tell me, when I ask them, that their stream of consciousness is not continuous. For instance, the other day, when I asked a woman, who I suspected might be an epileptic, if she ever noticed a break in her stream of consciousness, she said, "Yes, I am glad you asked that. When I'm under the dryer at a beauty parlor, suddenly the noise will go off, and then, as suddenly, it will come back again." Other women tell me they find themselves in a room without any memory of how they got there. In many of these cases, an electroencephalogram or record of the tiny electric currents being formed in the brain shows a typical epileptic picture. If I ask the person if there is epilepsy or a tendency to violent temper or alcoholism in her family, she will usually say "Yes; I know where this comes from."

Many of these patients I have been able to help tremendously with the help of Dilantin or others of the new anticonvulsive drugs. I have several salesmen who tell me that now as they take the drug, their sales have tripled and quadrupled because they no longer get into fights with their customers. A woman of 55, who never in her life was able to work because of the stresses of an unrecognized epilepsy, is now happy, and earning her living as a teacher of music. Dilantin made a new woman of her overnight.

Several of my patients who came to me suffering tortures with horrible headaches immediately became free on Dilantin. Other patients who were suffering from what looked like attacks of peritonitis with severe abdominal pain or terrible retching are now free on Dilantin.

The best advice I can give to people with symptoms such as I describe is to write to Mr. Gray, of the National Epilepsy League (130 N. Wells St., Chicago 6, Illinois).

FOOD AND HARDENING OF THE ARTERIES

Recently, the American Medical Association's Council on Foods and Nutrition summed up present knowledge on the subject of diet and hardening of the arteries, saying that their conclusion was that quite a bit more study will have to be made before we doctors can start telling our patients just which fats not to eat. When the other day I sat at breakfast with a prominent physician and told him this, he immediately called the waiter and said, "Bring me three eggs and bacon. Oh, boy; for the last six months my wife hasn't let me have a single egg!"

We doctors just don't know enough yet, and we don't agree about many items. The quantity of fat eaten may still be as important as the nature of the fat. As I doubtless have said before in this column, during the next year or two experts will give us much information which we now lack. Until I have this information, all I am asking my patients to do is to eat just enough to maintain a normal weight.

How to Torture Your Wife

I'M DISCOURAGED, HERE I'VE BEEN DIETING THREE WEEKS, AND WHAT HAPPENS? I GAIN FIVE POUNDS! MY CLOTHES DON'T FIT, AND I JUST KNOW I LOOK DISGUSTING! NOW, HOW STUPID, HONER, DON'T YOU THINK I'M A SIGHT?

WELL, YOU ARE PRETTY HEAVY, BUT WHAT OF IT? YOU'RE NOT TRYING TO WIN A BEAUTY CONTEST, OR LAND A JOB IN THE MOVIES. PLENTY OF PEOPLE ARE FAT, BUT THEY SEEM TO ENJOY LIFE IN SPIRIT OF THEIR SIZE. YOUR MOTHER IS AWFULLY FAT, SO I SUPPOSE YOU GONE BY IT NATURALLY. IF I WERE YOU I'D ACCEPT IT AND TRY TO BE PHILOSOPHICAL ABOUT IT. AFTER ALL, IT'S NOT YOUR FAULT, YOU'VE TRIED TO TRAIN DOWN, AND APPARENTLY IT'S HOPELESS. HONER, I SEE THIS FINE-OUT BRIDGE GAME IS GETTING QUITE A FOLLOWING.

Clean Greenhouses Aid Plant Growth

Spring-cleaning and fall-cleaning are associated with turmoil in the home, but summer-cleaning is something reserved for the greenhouse.

Since the greenhouse is predominantly a place where young things are reared, conditions inside should resemble a hospital, but with more enjoyable odors. Healthy plants are obtained with greater ease in a structure which receives an annual scrubbing because light intensity is increased and pests and diseases reduced.

Tools for the job include a pail, scrubbrush, a few old shirts, castle or naptha soap, warm water, a garden hose, a little disinfectant such as lysol, and a small stepladder.

A window brush on a four foot handle and a vacuum cleaner, if you can get away with it, are useful additions.

BURNED

The vacuum cleaner will pick up insects, eggs, and disease spores from corners difficult to clean in any other way, and the contents should be burned when the vacuuming is completed.

Scrubbing with the warm water-soap-disinfectant solution should be thoroughly done, and finished off by rinsing the structure with a good jet from the hose.

Cleaning the glass inside and outside completes the job, excepting for the needed repair work which usually becomes apparent when the greenhouse is worked over inch by inch.

TUG EN ROUTE FOR 'FACELIFT'

Resting in slings suspended from the Vancouver salvage vessel Recoveror, the tug Nanaimo Flyer was raised 150 feet from the floor of Dodd Narrows, where it had lain since it was sunk Aug. 1 by one of the empty chip scows it was towing through the treacherous waterway. Skin divers attached the slings to the vessel, which was taken to Madill Shipyards in Nanaimo for inspection and temporary repair. It is expected the tug will be taken to Vancouver for thorough overhaul.—(Flett Studio photo.)

Water Board, Mining Firm Clash On Access to Nanaimo Watershed

NANAIMO (CP)—A clash of interest between a Vancouver mining company and the Greater Nanaimo District Water Board has developed over the question of access to the district's watershed at the source of the Nanaimo River, it was learned Wednesday. Salmoprinco Mines Ltd. has 50 claims in the 85-square-mile area, some of which are owned outright by the company and others are on land owned by MacMillan and Bipedel Ltd., which the mining company holds the mineral rights.

Bert L. Nesbitt of Vancouver, managing director of Salmoprinco, said the dispute began when the mining company sought to obtain additional access permits from the board.

Two permits were issued to prospects for the company after showings of high grade copper-gold ore were found in an area.

Mr. Nesbitt said the board was opposing access for additional employees to follow up preliminary surveys.

GOOD ORE "The ore is exceptionally good and it will be possible to ship it direct to Tacoma smelter without milling," he said. "Mining operations would involve far fewer men than are normally employed on logging operations in the same area and much less disturbance to the ground."

Jack Barsby, chairman of the water board, said the board was concerned with the purity of the water supply and the health of 24,000 people it serves.

"We also must protect our $3,000,000 investment. That is our first duty and if we can satisfy ourselves that mining operations can be safely carried on in the watershed we will withdraw our opposition."

"So far we have no such assurance. We are awaiting results of ore and water analysis."

William Fulcher, one of the candidates, served on the commission from 1950 to 1952, and again in 1955-56, and was chairman of the public works committee for the greater part of his time on the board.

The other nominee, Victor Finholm, making his first bid for public office, has been in the logging business since making his home here eight years ago, and is well known for his activity in community affairs.

CAKE ORDERS PLACED BY TOURISTS

NANAIMO—Tourists visiting here are placing orders for portions of the city's 10,000-pound centennial birthday cake.

Fire Destroys Vacant House At Rocky Point

METCHOSIN — A fire, believed started in an old vacant house near Rocky Point road, destroyed the house and threatened another Wednesday before being brought under control by neighbors and B.C. Forest Service crews.

AT LADYSMITH

Action Promised On Highway

LADYSMITH (CP)—Anything left undone in connection with the Trans-Canada Highwayway through Ladysmith will be corrected, Highways Minister Gagliardi assured Mayor L. T. Ryan and works chairman P. R. Battie Tuesday.

Mayor Ryan said today he is well pleased with the hearing. He said there are a lot of details that the minister is not familiar with in regard to the curbing left unfinished after highway construction was carried out last year.

Mr. Gagliardi had made a note of these and said everything would be taken care of.

Ald. Battie explained that lack of curbing is causing basement flooding in homes along the route, because the new highway level is higher than the sidewalks.

Gulf Islanders Protest Lack of Space on Ferry

PENDER ISLAND (CP)—Gulf island residents are protesting lack of space for residents and commuters on the car ferry Cy Peck.

They have filed protests with the highways department and with the Gulf Islands Ferry Co. of Ganges, which operates the twice-a-day service to the outer islands from Swartz Bay, North Saanich.

They say round-trip passengers have used the "first-come, first-served" prerogative with such success this summer that island residents and tourists travelling to and from the various islands find it increasingly difficult to find ferry space. Sometimes, they say, after a final car has been squeezed aboard the driver is barred because he would be passenger No. 101. So he is compelled to travel to Swartz Bay by launch to reclaim his car.

In a statement to the Pender Island Farmers' Institute, ferry company president Gavin C. Mouat said he sympathized with the islanders but could do nothing about the matter. He said no priorities are allowed on the ferry and federal regulations prohibit carrying more than 100 passengers.

Members of the Farmers' Institute will seek an appointment with Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi as soon as he returns to Victoria next week.

"Where Quality Costs No More"

Padres Play It Rough

By The United Press
Vancouver, which spent most of last week crowding the Pacific Coast League leading Seals into a corner, is now getting cuffed around by the San Diego Padres.

San Diego took its third straight over the Mounties Thursday night by dumping the second-place squad 6-2 and 5-1 in the evening's only double-header. If their hot streak lasts, the Pads just might tie second place by taking tonight's series-end.

WARD SHINES

Preston Ward was the big man with the bat for San Diego, hitting his 15th homer in the first game with one aboard and his 16th in the second contest, also with one on. In neither game did the Mounties come close to even tying things up. They made their two runs in the sixth of the seven-inning first game and collected a single tally off a homer by Spider Jorgenson in the ninth frame of the nightcap.

In other league contests, Seattle squeezed past San Francisco 1-0, Sacramento beat Hollywood 3-1, for the third straight time, and Los Angeles swarmed all over Portland, 9-2.

BUD ON BIT

In San Francisco, the Rainiers' winning hurler, Bud Podbielan, gave up three hits as did loser Tommy Hurd. As a matter of fact the one Seattle run was set up when Albie Pearson dropped a fly putting Maury Wills on first. Then, workhorse Podbielan scored Wills on a squeeze bunt to earn his win. It was the Seals' first loss in four games.

Another pitchers' contest took place in Sacramento. Bud Watkins allowed the free-swinging Stars only four hits, while losing hurler Bennie Daniels permitted six, four in the first frame for all three Solon runs. Daniels scored the only Star tally with his bases-empty homer in the fifth.

The Los Angeles-Portland game was notable for the fact that Steve Bilko hit his 46th homer of the year—his third in as many games.

Munroe Packs Prolific Punch For Butlers

Bill Munroe, Saanich Butler Brothers' bantam-sized Jack Blonda, set a scoring record for the Greater Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association that could possibly stand as a record for all of Canada Wednesday when he wound up with 155 points on 101 goals and 54 assists in a 13-game schedule.

He reached that mark on a 13-point spree against Combines, at Stevenson Park, scoring seven markers and assisting on six.

Munroe had to take one step back in the final league game as speedy John Hansen came through with a 12-point effort on nine goals and three assists for their 21-7 win.

Punjab United extended their no-loss streak to 24 games in the pee-wee division Tuesday with an 8-6 win over Oak Bay.

They scored three unanswered goals in the final quarter for the win.

In the second pee-wee game played Tuesday, Saanich Tigers hammered out an 11-2 win over Victoria City.

Saanich Butler Brothers—John Hansen 9, Bill Munroe 3, Gary Zeller 1, Bruce Mitchell 2, Bill Duckworth, Don Wilson, Total 21.

Try the Skates, Dick!

With only seven race dates left this season, Dick Wiloughby may have to use those roller skates perched atop his number 99 to overtake a red-hot Digger O'Dell in the race for driving honors at Western Speedway.

Wiloughby was running first in the 1957 point race until about six weeks ago when O'Dell caught fire and has been blistering the new asphalt surface ever since.

Wiloughby's roller skates date back two years to the 1955 season when he had them installed on top of his car to make life a little

PICKING WINNERS EASY IF YOU HAVE A SYSTEM

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Horse player Francis Palamidas hasn't had a losing day at the track since he got an assistant—an eight-month-old monkey.

"I was a loser for many years," Palamidas said. "The first time I brought Googoo to Atlantic City, he picked the winning daily double worth $109.80 last Wednesday."

Wednesday Googoo had two more winners at Atlantic City—I Audacious, $13.40 in the second race, and Fortunate, $9.80 in the fourth. He also had Brilliant Gem to place at $3.60 in the fifth.

Googoo's handicapping isn't complicated. He picks his choices out of his owner's hat and occasionally points to a horse on the program.

SUMMER 'SPEL

Only 14 Vacancies Before Limit Reached

Only 14 berths remain open for the Victoria Curling Club's fourth annual summer bonspiel, which opens next Friday and runs through the Labor Day weekend.

Sixteen of the 50 entries received so far are from out-of-town rinks, including three from Alberta. In addition to Campbell Aird, of Devon, and Dr. Jack Geddes, of Edmonton, Roy Patriquin, of Calgary, has entered the affair.

The Mainland has recorded a better-than-average entry of 10 rinks, including Kelly Shields, of Ocean Falls; L. G. Moir, of Salmo; Harvey Kaila, of Abbotsford; Mac Purves, of New Westminster, and C. Vels, of Doris. Mauro, Barney Sigurdson, Walter Davidson, Fred Isaacs and Ned Dobell, of Vancouver.

From Up-Island will be Tony Folk and Gary Merrett, of Duncan, and Dave Dunn, of Nanaimo.

Sue Butt Advances With Easy Wins

Sue Butt, of Victoria, downed Vida Large, of Halifax, 6-2, 6-3, Wednesday, to enter the semi-finals of the Quebec tennis championships.

Miss Butt then paired with Anne Bagge Vieira, of Brazil, to win their first-round doubles match, 6-0, 6-1, from Francine and Mary Cote, of Quebec City.

Outsider In At Exhibition

VANCOUVER (CP)—The big money winner at Exhibition Park Wednesday was High Holiday, a 46 to 1 longshot in the eighth race.

With jockey Billy Howe up, the horse—a five-year-old bay gelding—finished half a length ahead of Prudent John in the $1,050 claiming race, over one mile and 70 yards. High Holiday is trained and owned by C. Elliott.

In the $1,300 optional claiming race, the seventh on the card, Dave Diamond's Dos Domingos finished 1½ lengths ahead of Junando.

Total money wagered at the meet was $147,037.

Double Triumph By Mrs. Chisholm

Ladies had a busy two days at Gorge Vale Golf Club with Mrs. Gavin Chisholm winning the 15-and-under handicap Monday, taking both low gross and low net, with 85-13, 72.

Second low net of the day went to Mrs. Harold Husband, who carded a 78.

In the Wenger basket competition Sunday, Miss I. Crawford teamed up with Miss M. Crawford for a ladies' greensome score of 70½ for a five-stroke win over their nearest competition, Mrs. Paterson and Mrs. A. Williams at 75½.

Saskatoon Junior Tops at Vandalia

VANDALIA, Ohio (CP)—Ron Roshier of Saskatoon Wednesday won the junior championship at the grand American clay target trapshoot.

The 16-year-old 12-grader was tied for first place with Helen Thomas, 17, of Los Angeles who won the women's championship for the second time in three years.

Tournament rules allowed Miss Thomas to pick up only one of the two titles—and Roshier won the junior crown without a final shootoff.

JUNIOR FINAL

Rocks Prefer To Be Cautious

Victoria's junior Shamrocks aren't expecting tonight's second game of the two-game, total-point provincial junior lacrosse finals with Mount Pleasant Indians in Memorial Arena at 8:30 to be a push-over.

But by the same token, they aren't expecting to lose, either.

Mount Pleasant is in a 12-goal hole after Tuesday's first game at Kerrisdale Arena, won by the Irish, 14-2, and they will have to do some mighty tall scoring to recover the deficit.

Against a team as powerful as this year's Rocks, there seems little chance of this happening.

Should the Victoria team win the series, they will travel to Winnipeg Labor Day for the Western Canada playoffs. A win there would give them a berth in the Dominion finals for the Minto Cup.

But coaches Pee Wee Bradshaw and Archie Browning aren't looking beyond tonight's clash. They're giving Indians all the respect due a club that has won the B.C. title for the last three years.

"They could still do it, you know," Browning stated Wednesday. "If we can beat them by 12 goals, they could possibly beat us by 13. One thing is certain, Mount Pleasant is capable of playing a better brand of lacrosse than it did Tuesday, and we expect a much tougher game."

Browning has announced only one lineup change for tonight's game. Norm Parker will take over Len Checkwick's defensive spot alongside Ross Rosskamp, Merlyn Hawes and Fred Mair will make up the other defensive combination in front of goalie Don Hamilton.

Up front Bob Showers, Jack Showers and Ed Longpre will form one attacking unit; Bob McKee, Ron Marshall and Jack Wilson, another; and Walt Harris, Stu Smith and Bill Gosling will compose the third front line.

As a preliminary, Vancouver Island pee wee division champions, Saanich Tigers, will meet a city all-star club at 7:30.

Ribbon in Braves' Hands; It's Time to Wrap It Up!

Milwaukee Tribe Moves Into Brooklyn Tonight

By Associated Press

If Milwaukee Braves have the National League pennant wrapped up, as some folks say, this is the time to put a ribbon on it. They open a three-game series against Brooklyn Dodgers tonight at Ebbets Field.

Braves broke up the log jam in the race by winning 10 in a row and jolted two contenders in the process—plunking St. Louis Cardinals out of the lead and crashing Cincinnati out of the race.

Now they have a chance to leave the Dodgers in the dust. The Brooks no longer can afford the luxury of losing.

Dodgers climbed within a percentage point of second place St. Louis, Wednesday, by rapping Cincinnati 8-0 as Don Newcombe finally got back into the act with a five-hitter for his first victory and complete game since July 12. The big guy won his 10th on the seventh try. He's 10-10.

Cardinals, who had won four in a row, were chopped down 13-6 by New York Giants.

Surprise! Surprise! Surprise!

Bonus lefty Mike McCormick gained a 3-0 record for the Giants, checking Cards on eight hits in 8½ relief innings. New York belted Lindy McDaniel (10-8) and four relievers for 13 hits, including home runs by Willie Mays and Hank Sauer. Cards counted homers from Wally Moon, Ken Boyer, Eddie Miksis and Stan Musial—who was 2-for-2, hoisting his average to .342 with Mays (2-for-4) second at 328.

If there is a more surprised team in the major leagues today than New York Yankees, it must be Kansas City Athletics.

Somebody Spiked the Big Guns

Boston's Ted Williams and Yankee Mickey Mantle were hitless for the second straight day in their battle for the batting title. Williams was 0-for-4 and has a .385 average while Mantle went 0-for-3 and is .378.

Kansas City chased Johnny Kucks (7-8) with three runs in the first inning and then tagged Art Ditmar and Al Cicotte for the rest. Jack Urban won his third with relief help from Virgil Trucks.

Jim Piersall's two-run homer off Mike Garcia won it for Red Sox, who had lost five in a row. Russ Nixon, with help from Ike Delock, won his 10th.

Labor Day Derby For Good Cause

For the fourth time in as many years the Esquimalt Anglers Association will hold a Labor Day Coho Derby and, as in each succeeding year since being started, this one shapes up as being bigger and better than before.

All proceeds from the fish-fest will go in aid of the Cerebral Palsy Association, Lower Vancouver Island division.

This year the association will be offering as first prize a 12-foot clinker-built fishing boat as first prize. Worth $150, the boat was made to order by Bill Plater with the waters in and around the Esquimalt area in mind.

All-Time Great, Old Poison Dies

WASAGA BEACH, Ont. (CP) 1925-26 season. He became the first NHL player to win the scoring title in an era of colorful hockey players and rated as one of the greatest centres of all time, died suddenly Wednesday while vacationing at this Georgian Bay resort area.

During the 1938 season, while playing with the old New York Americans, Stewart became the first NHL player to score 300 goals. Since that time, three other players have joined the select circle.

He had 324 goals when his NHL career ended. Known as "old poison," he played 14 seasons in the National Hockey League with three teams, closing out his career after the 1939-40 campaign. At that time, he held the all-time NHL scoring record of 324 goals for regular season play.

Stewart climbed to the NHL and Montreal Maroons in the 1925-26 season. He became the first NHL player to win the scoring title in an era of colorful hockey players and rated as one of the greatest centres of all time, died suddenly Wednesday while vacationing at this Georgian Bay resort area.

Cinderella or Prince? Pete After an Answer

MARLENE STEWART
... Tough Battle Wednesday

MARLENE IN EIGHTS Polly a Problem Until 19th Hole

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP)—Defending champion Marlene Stewart of Portland, Ore., and seven other challengers were the survivors today in the quarter-finals of the 57th U.S. National Women's Amateur golf championship.

The challengers were: Three teenagers—Anne Quast, 19, and Joanne Gunderson, 18, both from Seattle, and Carole Jo Kahler, 19, of Roseburg, Ore.; long-hitting Anne Richardson, a statuesque blonde from Columbus, O.; Barbara Romack Porter, a champion in this event in 1954 and her perennial rival, Ann Casey Johnston, of Mason City, Iowa, plus a real darkhorse, 32-year-old Mrs. John Pennington, of Buffalo, N.Y.

All won double rounds Wednesday at Del Paso Country Club's par 74, 6,368-yard course in a test both of stamina and golfing ability played in 90-degree heat.

Pairings for today's late quarter-final matches were Richardson vs. Quast; Pennington vs. Gunderson; Kahler vs. Stewart; and Johnston vs. Porter.

Some advanced to the quarter-finals easily, like Miss Quast, who fired three-under-par golf to beat Judith Bell, of Wichita, Kans., 6 and 4, and Mrs. Johnston, who ousted a local favorite, schoolteacher Marilyn Cooper, 6 and 5, with a two-under display.

Both Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Porter had to fight through extra holes to stay in the tournament.

Mrs. Porter, the hottest player in the tournament, and confident Clifford Ann Creed, of Opelousa, La., engaged in a real thriller. Both finished the regulation 18 holes in one-under-par 73's with Creed one-putting eight of the last nine holes. They halved the 19th but Mrs. Porter whacked in a 15-footer for a birdie on the 20th hole to wrap up Miss Creed.

Mrs. Stewart, who seems to play just well enough to win, had to go to the 19th to defeat the veteran Polly Riley, of Fort Worth, Tex. Miss Riley came unglued, taking an inglorious buzzard six on the easy 350-yard par four hole and conceding the match when the champion had left only a four-foot putt for a winning par.

SEATTLE (AP)—This is the day the self-made Cinderella man, Pete Rademacher, goes to the fistic ball with Prince Floyd Patterson to learn if his dreams are made of dust or diamonds.

Only the weatherman was predicting anything fair about this fight for the heavyweight championship of the world. A majority if not quite all of the ringwise observers have protested that the big, genial farm boy is leading himself to a slaughter.

This first heavyweight title fight between an amateur (Rademacher) and a professional (Patterson) is scheduled to take over the spotlight at 11 p.m. PDT (midnight MDT) but Pete may not have to wait so long for the verdict.

Promoter Jack Hurley said he might start the main show, scheduled for 15 rounds, any time after 9:30 p.m. "If all the customers are seated," This, he said, would be a boon to readers of eastern newspapers, who otherwise would have to wait until shortly before dawn to learn the outcome.

The fight will not be broadcast over telecast.

CAPACITY CROWD?

Sicks' Stadium here is likely to be crammed to its 25,000 capacity with $400,000 worth of paying customers. Many of these disagree with the expert opinion that Rademacher's survival will be short under the impact of the champion's slashing fists.

Referee Tommy Loughran, the old champ of the light-heavyweights, looks for a fast and brutal contest. "These are not tired old pros," said Tommy.

"These are eager young men, one fighting to take the title, the other to keep it."

Loughran, who will be in full charge, has said he will not stop the scrap if one fighter is slightly cut or somewhat groggy. It will end, he says, after 15 rounds or "when I count 10."

There will be no ringside judges.

Rademacher, 28, goes into the ring with a weight advantage of some 25 pounds. The 210-pounder has almost spindly legs for such a large man, but he is massive in torso, shoulders and biceps. He can hit—his string of more than 30 knockouts attests to that.

He can be hit. Pete has been knocked out twice in his amateur career of 79 bouts. He has been knocked down in others—and won them.

Patterson's plans? Manager Gus D'Amato says he will send the champion out to score a knockout if he can—"in 10 seconds or 10 rounds, whatever it takes."

CANADIAN AMATEUR

Four Cup Stars Still in Running

WINNIPEG (CP)—Six British Walker Cup players had fallen by the wayside Wednesday after two rounds of match play in the Canadian amateur golf championship, leaving four still in the running.

The six who went down to defeat over the par 36-36-72 St. Charles course included British amateur champion Reid Jack and Scottish champion Dr. Frank Deighton. The others were Guy Wolstenholme, Douglas Sewell, Michael Bonallack and Alex Shepperson.

Going into today's morning third round-fourth round will be played in the afternoon—were Joe Carr of Dublin, Ireland, and Britons Philip Scrutton, Allan Bussell and Alan Thirlwell.

Carr and Scrutton were drawn against each other in the bottom half of the third draw. The other two were in the top half. Bussell was up against sharp-shooting George Knudson of Winnipeg; Thirlwell against unorthodox crosshander Wally Keep, also of Winnipeg.

Along with the four Britishers, 10 Canadians and two Americans made it into the sixteens.

Bracketed in the top half with Knudson, Bussell, Thirlwell and Keep were Gordon MacKenzie of Vancouver, Ted Homenick of Winnipeg, Nate Jacob of Winnipeg and Doug Silverberg of Calgary.

WESLOCK STILL IN

Joining Carr and Scrutton in the lower half were Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., Leonard B. J. of London, Minn., Bob Kidd of Vancouver, Harry Haverstick of Lancaster, P., and Bob Fair of Winnipeg. Collins, both of Winnipeg. They all pair off in that order.

Twenty-five-year-old Johnny Russell of Vancouver, pulled the first major upset of the day Wednesday when he defeated Reid Jack one-up. It was a short-lived triumph as Russell was bounced out of the tournament.

Wood Still Tops For Boat-Building

Wood boats are far from being outmoded. Despite the introduction of new materials, wood continues to dominate the field of small boat construction. New materials, instead of replacing wood, are making it better.

Wood has many virtues lacking in the new materials. Not the least of these is economy, an item of considerable importance to most boat owners. The wood boat requires no expensive outlay of equipment for its construction, and wood is familiar in all its aspects.

Most men as well as many women have some ability to use the tools with which wood is worked. This accounts for the use of wood in boat kits for home assembly. Boat plans for the do-it-yourself fan are usually designed for wood construction.

The lumber used in ships two or three hundred years ago was put through a curing process that, while successful, would not be feasible in these days of high-speed production. Oak trees selected for ship timbers were cut in the winter after the sap had returned to the roots. The logs were placed in a salt pond where they remained for a period of 20 years or more. This saturated the wood with salt which protected it from decay after it was installed in a boat.

Chemical Compounds Do Effective, Fast Job

Today similar results are obtained by a much faster process. Chemical compounds have been developed that are probably more effective than the salt used by those early shipbuilders. In one process the timbers are placed in a huge container from which most of the air is withdrawn. The chemical is then introduced and, because of the vacuum penetrates deep into the wood.

This is known as the vacuum impregnation process and is widely used for the protection of lumber against rot. Another process that is widely used by shipyards can also be employed by the home boat builder, whether constructing with a kit or building from plans.

It consists of a liquid having great penetrating power which has been mixed with protective chemicals. All sides of the wood are brush coated with the liquid before being assembled in the boat. Since rot usually starts at the surface or immediately beneath, this treatment provides protection from most types of decay that infect boat timbers.

Unless protected by paint or varnish, protective chemicals may be washed out or diluted, particularly if exposed to rain water. It is wise, after removing paint and varnish for a refinishing job, to give the wood a preservative treatment before applying the new finish.

Another product, created by United States plywood producers especially for the treatment of plywood to be used in boat building, seals the surface permanently, and prevents checking of the outer layers of wood. It is so effective that the wood will not absorb water for years. It is just as effective in sealing out rot-producing bacteria.

BIG DEMAND MAY FORCE EARLY WARD REOPENING

A 32-bed ward at St. Joseph's Hospital, scheduled to be re-opened after Labor Day, may have to open next week "if the demand for beds continues as it has in the last few days," a hospital official said today.

The ward was closed July 28 when the staff was cut down by vacationing nurses. A national shortage of nurses made the vacationing staff difficult to replace.

Grain Overflow Jams Boxcars

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP)—

Grain unloading from boxcars at the Lakehead slowed to a trickle Wednesday in the face of a mounting pile in terminal elevators.

About 72,000,000 bushels of grain—close to working capacity—are in 14 terminals here. Actual capacity is 93,000,000, but not all space can be used because varieties and grades must be kept separate.

Some 4,500 boxcars stuffed with 9,000,000 bushels fill CNR and CPR yards here. Hundreds more are being held on auxiliary tracks between the Lakehead and Winnipeg.

Last week, only 3,800,000 bushels of grain moved down the Great Lakes, while about 5,000,000 bushels poured in from the Prairies. Some 3,700,000 bushels had been shipped by Wednesday, the fourth day of the current five-day crop week.

Federal grain officials say the pile-up is caused by bumper crops during the last several years accompanied by reduced exports in the last crop year—260,000,000 bushels of wheat compared with 309,000,000 the previous year. This year's wheat crop is expected to be the smallest in 11 years at about 300,000,000 bushels. Last year's crop was 516,000,000.

With combines now ripping into fast-ripening crops in all three prairie provinces, no policy to relieve the situation has been announced.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Record wheat exports during the last marketing year cut the United States surplus to 905,000,000 bushels July 1, the agriculture department reported Wednesday.

Exports during the year ended June 30 amounted to 547, 000,000 bushels, the department said. The 905,000,000-bushel surplus was 128,000,000 bushels less than the near-record surpluses on hand a year earlier.

$5,600 First Step In Parking Project

The initial step in a municipally-operated off-street, short-term parking system for downtown Victoria would cost only $5,600.

This cost would be aside from the cost of the land, if it were purchased. However, some lands already held by the city might be suitable for conversion.

The first step would be completion of a ground-level parking area measuring 120 by 240 feet, with room for 110 cars. It was estimated by city manager C. C. Wyatt following talks with manager of Vancouver Downtown Parking Corporation, Tempest De Wolf.

Mr. De Wolf told a luncheon meeting of city-elected officials and department heads, at the

Multi-Million Plane Never Left Ground

WASHINGTON (UP)—The air force Wednesday halted work on an airplane that has cost $100,000,000 but has never got off the ground.

The aircraft is the XF-103, a joint development of the Republic Aviation Corp., Farmingdale, N.Y., and Wright Aeronautical Division of Curtiss-Wright Corp., Woodbridge, N.J.

It was originally intended as a 1,400-mile-an-hour interceptor and later was converted to a research airplane project.

The air force said it cancelled development of the XF-103, which "was never completed," because of current economy policies and because "other flight research vehicles will provide similar test data."

Disclosure of the XF-103 cancellation came amid these other defence developments:

The air force disclosed that the Navaho intercontinental guided missile program had cost $690,000,000 when it recently was cancelled after 10 years of development work. North American Aviation Corp., Los Angeles, Calif., had the Navaho contract.

The air force announced it has told North American to develop a new guided missile to be carried by long-range bombers for launching against distant enemy targets. It will be designed mainly for the B-52 bomber and will presumably have a range of several hundred miles.

WAY OF LIFE CHANGED

Mohawks on Warpath Over Seaway Project

CAUGHNAWAGA, Que. (CP)—A young Indian chief is sounding a blood call for Canada's Mohawks to follow him south to New York State, hunting ground of their long-dead ancestors.

He says more than 2,000 Indians from reservations in Quebec, their way of life changed by the St. Lawrence seaway, may answer his call.

They would settle in New York beside Schenck Creek near its junction with the Mohawk River, where drums echoed in the wilderness two centuries ago.

Chief Standing Arrow, otherwise known as Francis Johnson, 24, a U.S. Navy veteran, said Wednesday 400 Mohawk Indians now live on the banks of the Schenck. He is leader of the Mohawks' Turtle clan.

By next summer, he said, 4,000 will live there. He wants Canadian tribesmen to join them.

"Quite a few" of the Mohawks in the Schenck Creek valley formerly lived in Canada, Chief Standing Arrow said. "The reason they had settled there is because of political pressure from the Canadian government."

He said a decision by the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority to send the waterway through the Caughnawaga reservation is "unfair."

The Indians will benefit by moving to New York State, he said, because "it is their original home and by treaty they have every right to live there."

Chief Standing Arrow visited Caughnawaga Tuesday to confer with six longhouse chiefs and invite them to a meeting of the Indian confederacy of Six Nations Sunday in Fort Hunter, N.Y. It will be the first meeting of its kind in the Mohawk valley in 163 years.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Kenneth Ferrill, 14, Belton, Tex., for his question:

What Kind of Weasel Is an Ermine?

We think of the weasel as a come ermine when winter sets in. The change of clothing is very thorough. It begins after the first winter snow arrives. When winter is early, Mr. Weasel changes early into Mr. Ermine. When winter is late, Mr. Weasel stays around a little longer. The old coat does not simply change color and the change does not happen overnight.

After the first snow, brown patches begin to melt as new white patches grow in. For 10 days to three weeks, Mr. Weasel alias Mr. Ermine looks like a plinto pony. When the job is done he is wearing the most expensive fur coat in the world. The snow white fur is soft and of extra-winter weight. The tip of the tail remains black, the same black pencil tip he wears with his summer coat. There are a great number of different weasels in America and any one of them can be an ermine when he has to cope with winter snow.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Paul Feldman, age nine, of Newton, Mass., for his question:

What countries pass through the Tropic of Cancer?

Paul can now trace a trip around the Tropic of Cancer on his handsome gift globe. Let's begin this trip in the New World. The Tropic of Cancer cuts Mexico clear in half. Running eastward, it brushes just north of Cuba and crosses the Atlantic to Villa Cisneros in the land of Rio de Oro. To stay on the Tropic of Cancer we must cross the hot, dry Sahara desert through Algeria and Libya. We cut across southern Egypt, over the Red Sea and across Saudi Arabia and cut off the northern tip of the little country of Oman.

Now we must take a boat for India and arrive there just south of Hyderabad. We cross the hot country of India to Dacca, then over Burma and across southern China. We now take a boat eastward across the Pacific. If we stay strictly on the Tropic of Cancer we shall weasel clear across the waist of the island of Formosa, then another boat trip which takes us just north of Honolulu. The next stop will be Mexico which brings us back to the New World from which we started.

This happens to all the weasels who live where winter brings heavy snow. The Arctic weasel of the far north is blond in summer and changes to snow white in winter. South of the winter snows, all weasels keep their dark coats summer and winter. North of the winter snow, these same weasels be-

Smart Cookie Earns Degree With Barks

DAVENPORT, Iowa (UP)—Cookie, a mathematically-minded, cocker spaniel, completed her college exams Wednesday and apparently stumped the experts.

Mrs. Rhea White, of the psychology laboratory at Duke University, said in a lengthy statement, "There is no doubt that Cookie can guess what number is in her owner's mind, but it is hard to say just how she is able to do this."

Mrs. White said Cookie is apparently the owner of an "extraordinary" sixth sense that enables her to read the mind of her owner, Mrs. Jane Duggan.

IN THE DARK

Mrs. Duggan and Cookie sit facing each other in a "totally" darkened room. Mrs. Duggan then writes down a mathematical problem such as "2x2 plus 5 equals what?" And the dog, not having seen the paper or being verbally instructed by her master "at all," then barks out the correct answer. Mrs. Duggan said she merely thinks of the numbers and Cookie does the rest.

"I have to keep the figures low," Mrs. Duggan said, "so she won't keep the neighbors up all night barking out the answers."

As sidelines, Cookie is also a whiz at adding, subtracting, multiplying and dividing, her owner says.

Mrs. White, whose field is experimental perception, has been in Davenport since Monday conducting tests on the mind-reading abilities of the 10-year-old cocker spaniel owned by Mrs. Jane Duggan.

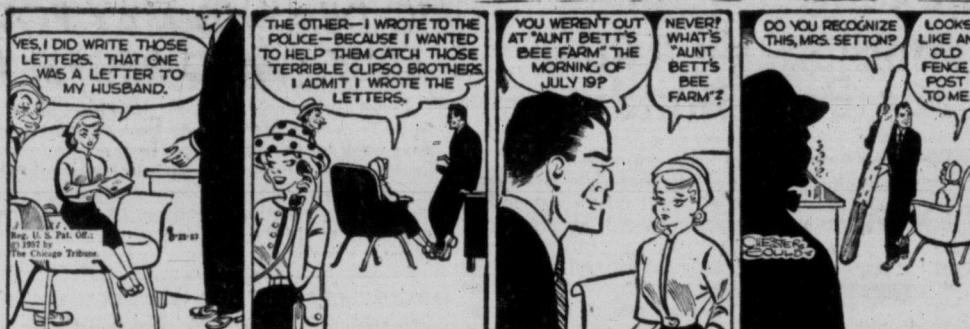

Mariners are being requested to navigate with extreme caution near Point Ellice Bridge Aug. 26 to 28 as a scow equipped with a tower structure will be used in pouring concrete to raise the bridge piers.

Alexander Honors Canadian Newsmen

from 1946 to 1952. Wednesday night paid a warm tribute to the integrity of Canadian newsmen.

Speaking to members of the parliamentary press gallery and their wives at the annual Bowater awards dinner, the former governor-general said he had many confidences entrusted and always honored by war correspondents during his long wartime experience. These ranged, he said, from the night he was the last officer out of Dunkirk to the day his Mediterranean forces won a complete victory over the Axis in that theatre.

The dinner was in honor of the Canadian journalists who won the two $1,000 Bowater awards for journalism for 1956. Fred Poland of the Montreal Star won in the cultural and social field, while Alan Kent of the Toronto Telegram won the Bowater award in the business and economic field for the second year in succession.

They were presented with cheques and inscribed silver salvers by James R. Nelson, chairman of the Bowater awards board of trustees and president of the press gallery.

TWO for the SHOW
By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) A (Don't Miss) BB (Worthwhile) C (For Rainy Days) D (To put in time)

(BB PLUS) "LOVE IN THE AFTERNOON" Odeon—Allied Artists—comedy with music might better be entitled "I'm Laughing With Tears in My Eyes."

The laughter stems from many excellent and sophisticated lines and the odd humor situation.

The tears are for other things which the young wouldn't know about because they have no background upon which to remember.

The plot is sound enough. Paris private eye Maurice Chevalier is mainly occupied with tracking down evidence of illicit love for misplaymates to use in divorce courts. When the film opens his game is Gary Cooper, an American businessman who "works when I'm not busy." Mr. Cooper, so it seems, would make a sultan pale with envy. Oo la la! Those numbers!

Back at his flat Chevalier is visited by John Melver, a jealous husband who believes that Cooper is instructing his wife in extracurricular activities. Chevalier shows him the results of that day's telephoto photography and wrathful hubby pulls a gun and hies off to the Ritz Hotel to prove to his wife that Cooper's got holes in his head. This is too much for Chevaller's eavesdropping, wide-eyed daughter Audrey Hepburn, however, who has been seduced by one glimpse of Cooper's face as photographed by daddy. Off she goes to the Ritz to warn the wicked old wolf that it's time to crawl into his lair and tell little Bad Riding Hood to hit for the fire escape.

FROM THIS moment until the end "Love in the Afternoon" is preoccupied with Miss Hepburn attempting to housebreak the wicked old wolf. At first it is gay and luring thanks to the acting abilities of the principals, the deft direction of Billy Wilder and his excellent use of such musical fare as "Fascination," "C'est Si Bon," the title song, and "Ariane." But after a while the whole thing palls, as though someone played the first two bars of "The Blue Danube" over and over again.

The situations are repeating themselves and even the jolly, sophisticated lines are commencing to lose their sparkle, like good jokes you've heard once too often.

And for all its fun this is a picture for those who are old enough to remember the gay Chevalier of the 1920s and early 30s, the gay boulevardier with the straw hat and protruding underlip who captivated the English-speaking world with his "Louise" in the "Innocent of Paris," "The Smiling Lieutenant" and "The Merry Widow." Only the voice is left.

And then there are those watching who will remember that Mr. Cooper is in his mid-fifties and that Miss Hepburn is about 26 and they will think how silly he will look chasing ladies in his wheelchair. Or, maybe, it will be as Detective Chevalier said when Cooper asked him "Do You Know Me?" "Does an art student know Picasso?"

Officials Defend Plane Hunt Work

U.S. Critic Misinformed, Says RCMP

Two organizations, accused of being "lackadaisical" in helping search for an aircraft stolen from the Butler-Howroyd field on Keating Cross Road July 29, said today they co-operated to the limit of their jurisdiction in the search.

Highly critical of the Department of Transport and RCMP in connection with the hunt for the stolen plane, owned by Rudy Kwiram, 1032 Oliphant, was Robert White of Redwood City, Calif., co-owner of the plane until last January.

It was formally "discovered" about two weeks after it was actually found in Washington, and reported to the United States Civil Aeronautic Authority.

Assistant Commissioner C. W. Harrison of the RCMP suggested Mr. White was badly misinformed on police action. "I think he rushed into print without checking his facts," he said.

Regarding Mr. White's statement to The Times Tuesday, "Mr. White says he doubted if we took any action," Assistant Commissioner C. W. Harrison said, "yet on the same day we were told of the plane theft we notified every sub-division and detachment in British Columbia."

NOTIFIED "We also notified every patrol car, all our patrol boats, and our two aircraft. When we were advised that the plane had a cruising radius of about 500 miles, we advised all other divisions of the force in Canada, and the Washington State Patrol, which is our normal liaison with United States authorities."

"We also checked out half a dozen false alarms given to us of aircraft having been seen in various parts of B.C., he said. Thomas G. How, district air services controller in Vancouver, said Wednesday night on behalf of the transport department that it is not the responsibility of the department to search for missing planes.

"But we will provide every possible assistance when requested," he said.

"On Aug. 2 police advised us of a missing aircraft, but it was not until Aug. 4 that the owner asked us to advise the various airports," he said. "On that date we issued a notice to airmen and put it on our wires throughout B.C., describing the aircraft and asking anybody who had heard of the aircraft to advise the RCMP or ourselves."

"A message was also sent to the CAA traffic control centre in Seattle," Mr. How said.

LET'S FACE IT, LADIES. Those legs, displayed by an unnamed Times' reporter, are definitely knobby—but not for long. Mask them with hosiery in shades of pink, black or gray, and the men will never know, says Du Pont fashion bureau director Mrs. Lissa Taylor, at right. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

NEW LOOK FOR LEGS

What Goes? Colored Hose

By DINAH KERR

Ladies! Do your legs look more like Whirlaway's than Miss U.S.A.'s?

Stockings with a "hint of a tint" to match your costume are the answer, according to Mrs. Lissa Taylor, fashion bureau director for the Du Pont Co. of Canada Ltd.

They're slenderizing, high fashion and "artistically correct," Mrs. Taylor said.

TONIGHT

She's here with Du Pont merchandising representative Tom Parker to introduce the one-tone look in fashion to Victoria retailers tonight at the Empress Hotel.

Tinted hosiery comes in more than 15 shades. Mrs. Taylor was "artistically correct" in a grey tweed suit, grey stockings and grey pumps.

She's also promoting red, black, navy and off-black hose.

The new look for legs, introduced this year by fashion titan Christian Dior, "makes a costume look complete," Mrs. Taylor said.

"It's good style and has a refined look."

FEEL PASSE

Like other innovations of fashion, women will "feel passe" if they're not legging it around town in technicolor.

The one-tone costume tends to "elongate the figure," Mrs. Taylor said, "because there's no break between the costume and feet."

In fact, the guy with an eye for a well-turned leg will probably have to look twice to see it.

And he'd better look fast. By the end of August Mrs. Taylor and Mr. Parker, who insists he's all for fashion's second look at legs, will have spread the tinted hosiery story to retailers from Victoria to Newfoundland.

WRITTEN BY LOCAL MINISTER'S DAUGHTER

V.I. Background for New Novel

The daughter of an Esquimalt clergyman, the late Canon H. H. Creal, is gathering material for a novel about Vancouver Island.

"I plan to build it around a typical Victoria family and use the Island as material for descriptive writing," says slim, dark-haired Margaret Creal—one of Canada's newest novelists.

Her first novel, the story of a Canadian prairie family, is being published in October by the New York firm of Simon and Schuster. It is called "A Lesson in Love."

Margaret Creal was born and raised in Regina where her father, Canon Creal, was minister of the Anglican church. Later he came out to Vancouver Island as rector of St. Paul's Church, Esquimalt.

In the meantime, Margaret married Frederick Shafer, a California church minister and teacher, and she has lived in California ever since.

WIDOW HERE Canon Creal died five years ago, but his widow still resides in Victoria and is now playing host to her novelist daughter, her husband and their four children.

It took Margaret Creal (she uses her maiden name) five years to write her first novel. It tells of a 17-year-old prairie girl who is brought up by her grandfather in a fictitious town in Manitoba.

The grandfather, an Anglican minister from England, is a staunch Imperialist and the novel tells of the girl's revolt against his teachings.

"Having been brought up in this kind of atmosphere, I always wanted to express on paper how Canadian-born youngsters react to it."

CHANGES "As I grew older I came to understand my father's viewpoint much better—and it is the same with the heroine of my story. She learns to appreciate the finer things about the British monarchy and how to integrate it with her Canadian background."

Margaret Creal finds that novel-writing, if it is properly organized, does not interfere with housewifery and motherhood.

"I put the baby to bed at noon every day and then work hard at my typewriter till 2 or 3 p.m., or whenever she wakes up."

"Our other three children are away at school and college, so these middle-of-the-day hours fit in perfectly with my work schedule."

Miss Creal and her family have been on an extensive tour of Vancouver Island since they came here two weeks ago and the theme of her next novel has taken shape from her travels.

"I shall love writing it," she said, "and I only hope my New York publishers will like the Island setting as much as they like the prairie background of my first novel."

SCENE OF FATAL ACCIDENT on Interurban Road Wednesday shows cleaning company panel truck where it came to rest after collision with nine-year-old Karen Ramsay, 3765 Belgrave. She died in hospital. X shows where girl was found, bleeding from head injuries. Driver of van, Wilfred Rhodes, is seen still sitting in truck in dazed condition. (Times Photo).

Truck Driver Charged In 9-Year-Old's Death

Wilfred Rhodes, driver of the truck in Wednesday's fatal accident on Interurban Road, was to be charged with criminal negligence in Saanich police court this afternoon. He has been in custody since the mishap.

"She was so traffic conscious . . . she knew I was terrified whenever she was on the highway."

These words were sobbed out today by the mother of pretty, nine-year-old Karen Louise Ramsay, 3765 Belgrave, who died of head injuries Wednesday night after a collision with a truck on Interurban Road.

Mrs. Albert Ramsay said her daughter was strictly careful on the road.

She couldn't understand what happened at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday outside Colquitz Junior High School where the mishap occurred.

The child died at St. Joseph's Hospital at 10 p.m.

She had been in collision with a delivery van on Interurban, dashed to the pavement and never rallied—despite a desperate try by doctors in the operating room.

An inquest is set for 10 a.m. Monday at Sands, and funeral service will be held at Sands chapel at 3 p.m.

Police identified the truck driver as Wilfred Rhodes, 39, 1746 Midgard.

SIXTH CHILD

Karen Louise was the sixth child to die this year in Greater Victoria traffic.

Her death brings to 10 the toll of street and highway victims — men and children — in Victoria since Jan. 1.

She was walking home from her bus stop and had just reached a driveway entering Interurban from Colquitz Junior High School grounds when the accident happened.

Rhodes, employed by Fyfe Cleaners whose truck he was driving, said the girl was walking on the right side of the road with her back toward him. There is no sidewalk.

Another truck approached from the north and as the two trucks met to pass the little girl stepped out into his path, Rhodes said.

The driver was in a state of shock. His truck had gone out of control when he tried to avoid an accident, and stopped, its rear wheels in a ditch, about 75 feet beyond the driveway. He estimated his speed at 20 miles an hour.

FROM SWIM CLASS

Karen Louise had been to a swim class at Elk Lake, caught a bus from town, then took another bus for home.

The day before she was home late and explained she had missed a bus which would have taken her near home. She could have caught a second one which travels a different route. It would have left her at Trans-Canada highway.

She told her mother she passed it up to take one which would leave her on Interurban, making it unnecessary for her to cross the highway.

For about an hour Saanich

City Cleric, Ex-Banker Dies at 91

Rector emeritus of the Church of Our Lord, Rev. T. H. Laundry, 91, died today at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Mr. Laundry's life brought fulfillment of two careers in banking and the church. He entered the service of the church at a time when most men seek retirement.

Born in Eton Terrace, London, England, he was educated at Kings College School. He passed the Incorporated Law Society's legal examination and was articulated to his father.

RETIRED IN 1936

Following his father's death, Mr. Laundry came to Victoria in 1899 to join the Bank of British Columbia. He stayed with the bank after amalgamation with the Canadian Bank of Commerce and was clearing house manager here for 25 years. He retired from the bank in 1925 and from the clearing house in 1936.

A lay reader in the church, Mr. Laundry then became a deacon and was later ordained.

From an assistant in the diocese he progressed to take full charge of the church between 1948 and 1950, when he retired.

Mr. Laundry is survived by the widow, Ann, at home, 1290 Beach Drive; one daughter, Mrs. R. M. Forbes, at Nanaimo, B.C.; four sons, Herbert in Ontario, Cecil and Arthur in Victoria, and Edward in North Vancouver.

He was predeceased many years ago by his eldest son, Lynne.

police did not know Karen's name or address.

They found out when Mrs. Ramsay reported Karen missing and gave a description.

"She was so traffic conscious."

I think she had come out of the school grounds and was waiting her chance to cross the road. That's her sister's school.

"She knew I was terrified of her being on the highway."

"She was always thinking of other people's feelings," Mrs. Ramsay said.

"When she was walking out with her sister or she would look after us, take our hands so carefully."

"She was a real outdoor girl," Mrs. Ramsay explained. Pointing into the backyard she said:

"There's her basketball hoop and her trapeze she put up herself. And there under the back steps is her 'hotrod' her father was building for her."

Under the steps was a board to which were fastened a set of small wheels.

"She couldn't wait for her baby brother to grow up so she could teach him to ride her bike, take him swimming and fishing . . ."

Next-door neighbor Fraser M. Williams, 3785 Belgrave, said of Karen:

"She was a quiet girl, no harum-scarum attached to her at all."

"She always seemed to be very careful," Mrs. Williams added.

"That Interurban Road . . . you drive. It winds along that creek, it's so narrow and you have to watch it," Mr. Williams said.

The Williams lost a son in a traffic accident several years ago.

Mr. Ramsay is employed as a timber inspector. His son, Lyle Albert, was two months old Wednesday. There is a 13-year-old daughter, Joan.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Laursen, Surrey, B.C. Among other relatives are Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Laursen, 2849 Adelaide.

Funeral will be conducted by Rev. J. Rogers and interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Karen would have entered Grade IV at Strawberry Vale School next month.

Milk Talks Resume

Negotiations between four city dairies and the milkmen's union will be resumed, probably this week.

However, both sides have refused to say what developments have taken place or what points remain in dispute in the threatened strike of workers.

Meeting Wednesday night of 165 members of Local 464, Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees' Union, instructed its policy committee to meet with dairy representatives again.

INCONCLUSIVE

"The dairies have made an offer which we consider inconclusive," Ben McCrone, union secretary, said. "We will meet with them again to get clarification."

Both sides agreed to withhold information on the negotiations. The talks will be resumed after what was to have been the "final" meeting Monday.

Although no date has been set for the management-union meeting, it is expected to be held some time this week.

Results of the meeting will be revealed to the employees at a general meeting in the Labor Hall Wednesday night. That meeting will decide further action.

FOUR INVOLVED

Palm Dairies Ltd., Island Farms Co-operative Association, Shepherd's Dairy Ltd., and Northwestern Creamery Ltd. are involved in the dispute.

The union has sought wage increases of $30 and $32 a month with continuation of six-day weekly deliveries, as recommended by a conciliation board.

The dairies rejected the delivery schedule and countered with a proposal to skip deliveries on Wednesday and Sunday, so they could afford the wage increases.

Ald. E. D. McEwen has called for a public vote on whether the Hillside-Gorge-Government-Douglas intersection should be altered.

Council has already approved a $30,000 expenditure for the project but there has been continued opposition from some Douglas Street merchants.

"I think I would be inclined to support a referendum," the mayor said today.

"We don't know what the people want. We just hear from those who are opposed."

Mrs. Jan Jordaan

Wife Sharing Career Of Diplomat Husband

Mrs. Jan Jordaan, charming wife of South Africa's High Commissioner to Canada, has followed her husband's fortunes through four countries over the past decade.

Born in Port Elizabeth, she has shared his governmental career in Cape Town and Pretoria and his diplomatic life in Washington, London and Ottawa.

Of French Huguenot descent, her family settled in Cape province more than 200 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordaan took up residence in Ottawa last January and are now on a tour of Canada, paying their respects to the various provinces of each province they visit.

They will meet Lt.-Gov. Frank Ross in the vice-regal suite at the Empress Hotel today.

"There is a wonderful spirit among the diplomatic corps in Ottawa," Mrs. Jordaan said, "and everyone has been very kind to us."

"The climate in the capital is not nearly so hard as we were led to believe, perhaps because our friends tended to exaggerate the extremes of heat and cold."

Of all the places she has been, Mrs. Jordaan still prefers the equable climate of South Africa and has no hesitation in saying, "We shall retire there some day."

In the meantime, she is well content with the diplomatic social life in Ottawa.

"My time is well occupied and we engage in a number of charitable enterprises."

Mrs. Jordaan has many British friends in South Africa and points out that most of the country's immigrants still come from Britain.

"I would say about 70 per cent of our post-war immigrants are from the Old Country," she said.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Easy-to-Do Embroidery Completes Gift Pictures By PENNY SAVER

It's a frightening thought, I know, but if you plan on making gifts for Christmas, you really should be getting started shortly. Only four months to go, and they'll go so quickly.

If you're clever with your needle, your Christmas gift problem is solved. Most people will appreciate something you've gone to the trouble of making yourself above anything you've bought.

I noticed some very attractive needlepoint pictures that wouldn't be too difficult for even an amateur needlewoman to embroider.

The pictures are oval and each has a colorful flower design already worked in needlepoint. You can choose from lilies, tulips or carnations.

With the picture, you get a supply of white wool to work the background yourself. There are full directions, and the picture is already framed and glassed, so it will be ready for giving in very little time.

Price of the complete sets is $3.98. I also noticed colorful scenes done in needlepoint—you can choose your own background colors and fill them in. Price (these aren't framed) is $1.49.

EASY HAIRDO

A teenager who wears her hair in a pony-tail or an older girl who favors a chignon may find that her hair isn't too easy to keep tidy unless she first curls it so that it holds its shape. Easiest way would be to roll it up on a wire roller I've discovered. You just slip the ends of your hair into slots between the wires, pinch it together, and roll it up.

Heal-Turner Vows in Candlelight

Tall baskets of pink, white and mauve gladioli and slender white tapers decorated Metropolitan United Church for the wedding Saturday evening unit in marriage Shirley Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Turner, and Gerald Keith Heal, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Heal. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. F. E. H. James, and "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Miss Jane Scofield during the signing of the register.

NYLON ORGANDY

Walking up the aisle on the arm of her father, the bride was a lovely picture in a gown of white nylon organdy over taffeta, embellished with roses. A boat neckline coming to a V at the back was appliqued in pearl and sequin roses, as was the bodice, which was styled with empire waist and lily-point sleeves. A floor-length skirt was fashioned with wide gores coming to a V of fan pleats at the back, and extending into a graceful train. A Juliet head-dress of seed pearls and sequins held a fine fingertip veil. The bridal bouquet of Rapture roses, white stephanotis and pink heather was completed with white satin streamers.

Maid of honor, Miss Heather Clark; bridesmatron, Mrs. Stanley Heal, and bridesmaid, Miss Dayle Heal, wore dresses of pink taffeta. They carried crescent bouquets of mauve gladioli, and wore headresses of the same gladioli in their hair.

Stanley Heal was best man while Dave Turner and Lyle Wilkinson ushered guests to pews marked with lace circlelets centered with pink heather and white satin bows.

The men wore white dinner jackets.

Mrs. Turner, mother of the bride, chose an ankle-length sheath gown of ash rose lace over silk with velvet hat, shoes and gloves in the same rose tone. An orchid corsage was worn. Mrs. Heal also wore an ankle-length sheath dress, in turquoise lace over satin with model hat of lace and tulle and orchid corsage.

Olde England Inn was scene of a reception, where Harry Dyer, uncle of the bride, proposed a toast to her happiness. A three-tier wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and silver leaves, and was surrounded by white tulle and pink Rapture rosebuds.

For her honeymoon to Banff, the attractive bride chose a navy blue model suit with matching shoes and purse, and hat and gloves of ash rose. She wore a muskrat jacket and corsage of Rapture roses, stephanotis and heather.

Zone Meeting—At a recent meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, FOE No. 12, plans were made for a zone meeting in Victoria early in October. It was decided that the ritual team will start practice again on Sept. 10. Mrs. Esther Chalk presided.

WHEN TO DROP "JR."

When the father of John Doe, Junior, dies, I understand that the son no longer needs to add the "Junior" to his name. However, how are the father's widow and the son's wife distinguished? Does the latter continue to call her self Mrs. John Doe, Jr., and is the widow to call herself Mrs. John Doe, Sr. or are both known as Mrs. John Doe? Would it be incorrect to continue using my supply of calling cards and informals and the like? As it was my father-in-law who recently passed away, I am anxious to know what to do.

Louise Davis Answers: When Mr. John Doe dies, his son theoretically drops the like to continue with the "junior" for a while for sentiment's sake. If there is a senior and junior Mrs. John Doe, such as in your case, he then automatically continues using the "junior" to distinguish between the two Mrs. John Does. The widow never adds the "senior" to her name, for there is no such thing. She is senior. Her position is comparable to the matriarch of the family and she warrants it by seniority, so she is Mrs. John Doe as she always was from the time she married. The daughter-in-law therefore uses the "junior" for identification, and, being the younger, she pays that homage. Therefore, keep using your supply of calling cards and stationery, for you are still Mrs. John Doe, Jr. You and your husband are Mr. and Mrs. John Doe, Jr., as long as your husband's mother is living.

Casual? What Do You Think?

Mrs. Donald McNeill, left, and Mrs. Arthur Burns

Mrs. Harry Flinn

Miss Elisabeth Baess

In an interview this week, Richard Lorain, Paris fashion expert, insisted that Victoria's yachtswomen "do not dress to show their femininity."

We insist... well, we don't insist at all... we merely ask you to look above! Here's Mrs. Donald McNeill, sporting a pale blue one-piece outfit with beige sandals for hot-weather sailing. She's cool, comfortable and as for that femininity... (like, WOW!)

Mrs. Arthur Burns wears a black backless T-shirt with scalloped edges, peddlepushers of a Mexican lime-green print and black canvas rubber-soled shoes. Matching bra-top, shorts and jacket come with the peddlepushers.

To Lorain's suggestion that yacht-women should wear skirts, Barbara says scornfully, "No self-respecting woman would ever wear skirts on a boat!"

A 'clown suit' of black cotton slim jims and a brightly-striped shirt is chosen by Mrs. Harry Flinn, centre, when she goes nautical. Her peddlepushers feature white stripes down the sides, her blouse is black with white and red stripes and black rubber-soled flatties have red and gold embroidered edges.

When racing on her brother's Dragon, Miss Elisabeth Baess always wears her navy blue Danish yachting uniform—and with her red, white and blue T-shirt, she's obviously smart as a whip!

Could be Monsieur left his glasses in Paris...

Red Roses Centre Bridal Bouquet

A bridal bouquet of red roses and stephanotis was carried by a recent bride, Miss May Edna Mitchell, daughter of the late Mr. J. Mitchell and Mrs. E. Crossman, for her marriage to Harry Alfred Talbot, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Talbot, Government Street.

A white ballerina-length wedding gown of fine illusion net and pleated nylon inserts over satin was worn by the bride as she walked up the aisle of First Baptist Church on the arm of her stepfather, Mr. Seward Crossman. An illusion net veil misted to shoulder-length, and was held in place by a headpiece of white-studded pearls. She wore pearl necklace and earrings, gift of the groom.

Rev. G. R. Easter officiated at the double ring ceremony, and Robert Kroeger played organ music.

Mrs. Mary Matthews was bridesmatron in a ballerina-length dress of fine blue lace with blue headpiece and pink carnation bouquet. Bridesmaid, Miss Anne Budynski, wore a similar dress of pink lace and carried a bouquet of blue carnations. Miss Rose Crossman was junior bridesmaid in a blue or gandy dress with a colonial bouquet of pink summer flowers, while Miss Marie Matthews, flower girl, wore a blue nylon frock with a bouquet of blue carnations. All attendants wore pearl necklaces.

John Dyson was best man, while Ray and Ken Matthews ushered guests to pews marked with mixed summer flowers and satin bows.

Pink and blue tulle surrounded a three-tier wedding cake at a reception held in Kings Road Hall. The bride's table was covered with a lace tablecloth, and pink and white carnations and tall blue candles flanked the cake.

Mrs. Grace MacKenzie, sister of the bride, wore a blue and white linen dress with white accessories and a pink carnation corsage. Mrs. Talbot, groom's mother, chose a white floral silk dress, blue and white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

A toast to the bride's happiness was proposed by R. Lister. The young couple are motoring in the United States on honeymoon. For travelling the bride chose a pink-fitted suit with white accessories and a gardenia corsage. They will make their home at 3203 Doncaster Drive in Victoria.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is essential for those who wish to remain as youthful as possible to give their thought to their menus. Healthful food need not be dreary food, and the results in good health and good looks are worth serious consideration.

Food costs are high and will probably remain that way. Therefore it is of the greatest importance to spend food dollars wisely. Some foods which you may think of as expensive really are not when you consider the values they bring you. Milk is one of these.

Many folks think of milk as a luxury food because they do not believe it to be essential except for growing children and young adults. Most nutritionists feel that an adult should have a pint of milk daily. This is a splendid protective food because it brings you animal protein, is the best source of calcium, and also gives you phosphorus, iron, Vitamin A and some of the Vitamin B family. Milk is a bargain in health food.

Because of the current awareness of the possible value of a low fat diet and also because of the interest in avoiding overweight, many persons use powdered, fat-free milk. This may not taste quite so good as whole milk but once you become used to it you take it for granted. I personally like this better than skim milk. When the cream is removed from milk you lose the vitamin A content. However, you will obtain plenty of this vitamin if you eat a well-balanced diet with lots of green and yellow vegetables in it.

The much maligned potato is another inexpensive and valuable food. A baked potato has only around 90 to 100 calories and is a splendid source of starch. It also gives you vitamins and minerals.

Only when lots of butter and cream-and-cheese are added does this food become a dieter's hazard. Of course, when potatoes are fried the same thing happens.

VLC Leaders Back House Plan for Aged

Victoria Labor Council executive Wednesday night decided to recommend to its membership that it sponsor a proposed $75,000 low rent housing project for senior citizens.

Socreds to Sit With Tories In Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — Social Credit members of the Commons will be seated with Progressive Conservatives to the right of the Speaker at the session of parliament opening October 14.

The Liberals, CCF and two Independents will occupy the opposition side of the House to the left of the Speaker.

Government members will have 20 front-row seats at the left of the Speaker. The CCF will have four and independents two.

It is traditional for government members to sit to the right of the Speaker. However, in the last few Parliaments the Liberals have occupied all seats on the Speaker's right as well as a rump to his left.

Social Credit members had to be seated on the government side because the Liberals and CCF had first and second choice of seats. The CCF chose to sit on the opposition side with the Liberals which took up all but five of the seats to the Speaker's left. The only seats available for the Social Credit party were on the government side.

The recommendation will be made at the next regular VLC meeting Sept. 4. Decision was based on advice of a VLC committee which earlier met with the Victoria Senior Citizens' Housing Society.

The society asked for VLC sponsorship to help it qualify for a $25,000 provincial government grant. In addition, sponsorship would open the way for the 10,000-strong council to assist in fund raising drives and other activities.

ELECTION of Victoria car dealer Harry Gladwell to the directorate of the Federation of Automobile Dealer Associations of Canada was made in Toronto Wednesday. Clark Simpkins, Vancouver, was elected president.

Speed Over 1,500 MPH Target Of New British 'Hurricane'

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain Wednesday took the wraps off its latest warplane, a supersonic fighter-bomber hoped to eventually reach speeds over 1,500 miles an hour.

Performance figures of the plane, the Hawker P-1121, were not disclosed when it was taken off the secret list.

It is unofficially known as the Hurricane after the Second World War fighter which, with the Spitfire, won the battle of Britain.

The new Hurricane carries one of the most powerful engines in the world, a De Havilland Gyron with 25,000 pounds thrust.

The company has gambled millions of dollars against the possibility that the government, with its present preference for missiles, may never order the plane's production.

Some information was also released on another secret plane, the Saunders-Roe SR-53.

The SR-53 which flew for the first time last May, is a rocket and jet interceptor powered jointly with an Armstrong-Siddeley Viper turbo-jet and a DeHavilland Spectre rocket motor.

Both the Hurricane and the SR-53 are expected to be seen publicly for the first time next month at Britain's annual air show in Farnborough, near London.

Not Easy to Do

WARWICK, R.I. (AP)—John Savage Wednesday observed his 105th birthday with a bit of advice for those who would live long: Get plenty of sleep, eat well, drink gin, smoke your pipe and don't worry.

BRIDGE LESSON
By Oswald Jacoby

East's jump to three spades was a many-purpose bid. Perhaps his side could make a lot of spades. Perhaps he could shut out the opponents. Perhaps he would get them into the wrong contract.

South was not going to be shut out. He toyed with the idea of bidding three no-trump but finally decided that a four-diamond bid would be better.

My old friend, Joe Cohen of Wooster, Ohio, former president of the ACLA, who sat West, passed.

North looked over his collection of cheese. He counted his 12 points a few times and eventually raised his partner to five diamonds. He did have a fine diamond support and there can be no great criticism of his bid, although I do feel that discretion would have been the better part of valor and that a pass was in order.

East passed. He had done his full duty when he bid three spades.

When it came around to Joe he doubled. He knew that his four diamonds would bother declarer and his queen of spades was a very pleasing lead.

Joe opened the queen of spades. South won with the ace and laid down the king of diamonds. East dropped the ten of clubs.

South's next play was the three of hearts. Joe hopped right up with his ace and led the eight of clubs to his partner.

There was a good reason for this lead instead of the conventional fourth best. Joe did not want his partner to play him for any high club.

East won the ace of clubs and cashed a high spade. Another spade was led and ruffed by South's queen. He picked up trumps and spread his hand for down one.

Price Formula Set For Doukhobor Land

Attorney-General Bonner said today the government's proposed formula for the sale of Doukhobor land is "virtually complete."
He made the statement in releasing the fourth interim report of Mr. Justice A. E. Lord on disposition of the Doukhobor lands.

In the report, Mr. Justice
Lord, acting as a one-man royal commission, details how lands seized from orthodox Douk-hobors by insurance firms during the depression should be returned.

The provincial government government took over the land when the Doukhobors were about to be dispossessed through mortgage foreclosures.
Main points of the program begun in 1953:

1. Extension of voting rights to Doukhobors;
2. Recognition of their marriage ceremony;
3. Enforcement of school attendance by Sons of Freedom children;
4. Disposition of the land problem.

Mr. Bonner said the fourth interim report may be the last.
A final, consolidated report may not be necessary, he said.

The first three reports dealt with subdivision of the land and the most suitable sizes of parcels put up for sale. The fourth report recommends a price formula.

Mr. Justice Lord recommends that the lands be offered to the Doukhobors at a price equal to 60 per cent of the appraised market value.

For parcels of land up to $1,000 in value a down payment of 25 per cent and the balance in three equal annual instalments at 4½ per cent will be required.

The government has been preparing maps and application forms to be made available early next month at the offices of government agents in Nelson and Grand Forks.

Russian speaking persons will be employed in the offices to assist applicants.
Conflicting applications will be ruled upon by a special board, with appeals to the commissioner.

General Laborers' Union with the association has been postponed to Friday. A union spokesman said Wednesday he was "fairly optimistic" of settlement prospects.

The union represents 5,000 laborers and rock and tunnel workers in the province, including 1,200 on the Island.

Policy committee of Local 115, International Union of Operating Engineers, also will meet Friday in Vancouver to decide strategy following an overwhelming strike vote by the union members.

Clifton Parker, Victoria business agent for Local 115, said his union also hoped settlement could be reached.
Some 500 of the 1,500 members are on the Island.

Unions Optimistic About Friday Talks

TORONTO 'FATHERS' CHECK 'GIRLIE' SHOW

TORONTO (CP)—Four Toronto aldermen said today they intend to take in the Canadian National Exhibition "girlie" show Friday at its first performance to make sure it is decent.

The aldermen said they are prepared to take steps against "nudity and suggestiveness."

The aldermen are Donald Summerville, Philip Givens, Frank Clifton and Kenneth Ostrander.

Teamsters Paid Louis $2,500 Senator Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator John McClellan (Dem., Ark.) said today he has a report that former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis was paid $2,500 to sit at teamsters boss James R. Hoffa's recent bribery trial for two hours.

PRISON, FINE FOR BREWSTER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Frank W. Brewster, western boss of the teamsters' union, today was sentenced to a year in jail and fined $1,000 for contempt of Congress.

Brewster was allowed to remain free on $1,000 bond pending an appeal. Brewster's conviction June 26 grew out of his refusal to produce records and answer questions before the Senate investigations sub-committee in January.

In Chicago, Louis said, "I didn't get twenty-five nothin'."

The former champion said he and Hoffa had been friends for 10 or 12 years and had gone to the trial expecting to be called as a character witness. He was not called.

"I wish I had $2,500," he commented.

Hoffa was acquitted of the charge by a jury made up of eight Negroes and four white persons. Members of the jury said in later interviews that the racial issue had not entered into their decision.

McClellan told Hoffa about the report as the midwest teamsters boss started a third day of quizzing by the Senate racks investigating committee about his alleged links with New York racketeers. The senator heads the committee.

Hoffa replied: "If he was, he wasn't paid by Hoffa."

Said McClellan: "I didn't say he was paid by you, I said he was paid."

McClellan asked Hoffa to check to see whether any teamsters funds were used to pay Louis an appearance fee.

The committee contends that Hoffa, now the odds-on choice to succeed Dave Beck as president of the teamsters' union, formed an alliance several years ago with Johnny Dio to

FOR CIVIL SERVANTS Agreement Near On Bargaining

Attorney General Bonner hinted today that the government is close to agreement with the B.C. Government Employees' Association on a new bargaining procedure for the province's 14,000 civil servants.

It may not be necessary for Chief Justice Gordon Sloan to hold "full-scale hearings" into the matter, the attorney-general said.

"While there is not complete agreement, there is a general agreement between the parties on what is required," Mr. Bonner said.

Chief Justice Sloan was appointed a one-man Board of Reference in the settlement of the threatened civil service strike last month.

Both sides met with the Chief Justice here Wednesday and agreed to continue joint discussions. They will meet him again Sept. 3.

The Board of Reference was set up to inquire into the bargaining procedure laid down in the Civil Service Act and make recommendations.

Both the government and the employees' association agreed to accept Chief Justice Sloan's findings.

The association has demanded that government employees be given full bargaining rights, with recourse to arbitration if necessary.

At their first meeting last month with Chief Justice Sloan, both sides agreed to "narrow down" the issue between themselves before the inquiry.

They have been meeting since that time and now appear to be close to agreement on the overall issue.

City Builders Welcome Added Loans for Houses

HOW SOON WILL IT END?

"Mismatch of all-time" is what some observers call to-night's heavyweight title fight in Seattle between amateur Pete Rademacher, left, and champion Floyd Patterson. Radio and TV blackout completes the screwy set-up. Fight starts 11 p.m. Victoria time.

Wedged in Two Walls 20 Hours, Tot Saved

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UP)—A chubby, three-year-old girl, wedged between two buildings for 20 hours, was dug out by a wrecking company crew today.

The child, Eileen Fahey, was crying as rescuers brought her through a cheering and weeping crowd of 1,000 persons.

Eileen was taken to Rhode Island Hospital in a waiting ambulance.

"Thank God," her father, John M. Fahey, 39, a railroad brakeman, said when the girl was lifted from her cramped tomb through a hole hammered by rescuers.

She was 15 feet back inside the space between a low garage and a two-story tenement. Her head was pinioned between the buildings. She was almost silent—barely whimpering.

One red shoe was pulled out first. Her father paced the floor of the garage, holding the tiny shoe in his hand, red-eyed from a sleepless night of searching.

"Hold it, baby doll," said Battalion Fire Chief James Coleman as blows were rained on the wall.

Oil was poured over her head to ease it out from the narrow space.

The brown-haired child cried softly as she was hauled to safety.

Montreal Man In Coma Guarded

MONTREAL (CP)—A police guard was placed today on the hospital room of an unconscious man believed the key to the collapse of plans for three chartered flights carrying nearly 200 passengers to and from Europe. Police said they would question him later.

Police said the man, a native of Finland, 33, is believed to be the travel agent who collected round-trip fares for the abortive special charter flights.

(British United Press said the man was Jean Nyman, 33, and quoted Montreal police as saying he would be charged with attempted suicide if he recovers.)

A group of 71 was left stranded Saturday at Paris on the homeward leg of a flight. A second fell through before it started this week at Montreal's Dorval airport. Sixty passengers stayed in a hotel in the Laurentian town.

'Just a Poor Businessman'

Doctors first speculated he was suffering from malnutrition and shock then diagnosed him as a victim of an overdose of sleeping tablets.

His wife, who identified him, said tearfully that "he's just a poor businessman, but not dishonest."

She said he collapsed last Christmas when the third of three flights he arranged to Paris did not materialize.

"He just doesn't know how to handle a business," she said. "He has five charter flights to his credit and failed with three others, besides this last stranded trip Saturday."

He was found behind a "do not disturb" sign on his hotel door. The manager said he heard groans.

Notes littered the floor, one addressed to the manager and vacationers back to Canada.

CITY GIRL VICTIM

By The Canadian Press
While British Columbia enjoyed one of the warmest days of the summer Wednesday, eight persons died in accidental deaths, making it the worst weekday for fatalities in years.

The causes of death were varied—a drowning, a mill accident, a fall from a hotel window, two traffic accidents, an accidental shooting, and a fire.

In Victoria, Karen Ramsey, 9, died after being struck by a truck. (See page 15 for story.)

Jerry Williams, 17, of Lytton, was drowned in the Thompson River when he was caught in a strong current where the Thompson is joined by the Fraser. In Lytton hospital John Anthony Maynard, 16, of Shaw Springs, died from injuries suffered when his car rolled off an embankment Tuesday.

At Kamloops, Orval Giauque died after a fall Tuesday from a second-storey window in a hotel. At Craigellachie, four-year-old Russell Hall Walters was drowned Tuesday.

PRAYER FOR TODAY
Our Father and our God, we would ever be mindful of Thy love and care. Grant us relief from the burdens and sins of life. Forgive us for our wilful disobedience to Thy will. Renew our spirits by Thy divine indwelling and so give us strength for the duties of this day and every day. May our judgments be tempered with understanding, and our faith glorified with compassion. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

'Skid Road' PNE Parade Criticized
VANCOUVER (CP)—The "Skid Road" route of a Pacific National Exhibition parade which brought record crowds into downtown Vancouver was criticized after the parade ended Wednesday.

Newspaper reporters said street-corner drunks hurled vulgarities at beauty queens and drum majorettes as the procession wended its way through drab streets in the city's East End.

"The best Skid Road parade in history," said one PNE official. Police estimated 335,000 watched the procession. (See picture below.)

MAINLANDERS CHEERED VICTORIA BEAUTIES

Victoria trademark, combination of pretty girls, cluster lamps and hanging flower baskets, won loud ovation as city float took part in Vancouver's Pacific National Exhibition opening parade Wednesday. Cheering was graciously acknowledged by Queen Sue Pearson and Princesses Grace Chaw and Annlyn Florence. Same float won acclaim in Victoria Day parade here.

The bundle of cash was wrapped in a sheet of paper placed on the counter.

LCB Profits For Schools Is Tory Idea

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP)—Craig Fraser, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Delta provincial by-election Sept. 9 opened his campaign here Wednesday night before 26 persons.

The money could be raised by transferring the $23,500,000 tax revenue from liquor sales in 1956 to the school program.

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—Del Black, Progressive Conservative candidate in the forthcoming Burnaby by-election, called Wednesday night for the formation of an independent highway commission made up of competent engineers and economists to assist the minister of highways.

Alexander Honors Canadian Newsmen

from 1946 to 1952, Wednesday night paid a warm tribute to the integrity of Canadian newspapermen.

Speaking to members of the parliamentary press gallery and their wives at the annual Bowater awards dinner, the former governor-general said he had many confidences entrusted and always honored by war correspondents during his long wartime experience. These ranged, he said, from the night he was the last officer out of Dunkirk to the day his Mediterranean forces won a complete victory over the Axis in that theatre.

The dinner was in honor of the Canadian journalists who won the two $1,000 Bowater awards for journalism in 1956. Fred Poland of the Montreal Star won in the cultural and social field, while Alan Kent of the Toronto Telegram won the Bowater award in the business and economic field for the second year in succession.

They were presented with cheques and inscribed silver salvers by James R. Nelson, chairman of the Bowater awards board of trustees and president of the press gallery.

(BB PLUS) "LOVE IN THE AFTERNOON" (Odeon)—Allied Artists' comedy with music might better be entitled "I'm Laughing With Tears in My Eyes."

The laughter stems from many excellent and sophisticated lines and the odd humorous situation.

The tears are for other things which the young wouldn't know about because they have no background upon which to remember.

The plot is sound enough. Paris private eye Maurice Chevalier is mainly occupied with tracking down evidence of illicit love for misplaymates to use in divorce courts. When the film opens his game is Gary Cooper, an American businessman who "works when I'm not busy." Mr. Cooper, so it seems, would make a sultan pale with envy. Co la la! Those numbers! Back at his flat Chevalier is visited by John McIver, a jealous husband who believes that Cooper is instructing his wife in extracurricular activities. Chevalier shows him the results of that day's telephoto photography and wrathful hubby pulls a gun and hies off to the Ritz Hotel to prove to his wife that Cooper's got holes in his head. This is too much for Chevalier's eavesdropping, wide-eyed daughter Audrey Hepburn, however, who has been seduced by one glimpse of Cooper's face as photographed by daddy. Off she goes to the Ritz to warn the wicked old wolf that it's time to crawl into his lair and tell little Bad Riding Hood to hit for the fire escape.

FROM THIS moment until the end "Love in the Afternoon" is preoccupied with Miss Hepburn attempting to housebreak the wicked old wolf. At first it is gay and lulling thanks to the acting abilities of the principals, the deft direction of Billy Wilder and his excellent use of such musical fare as "Fascination," "C'est Si Bon," the title song, and "Ariane." But after a while the whole thing palls as though someone played the first two bars of "The Blue Danube" over and over again. The situations are repeating themselves and even the jolly, sophisticated lines are commencing to lose their sparkle. Like good jokes you've heard once too often.

And for all its fun this is a sad picture for those who are old enough to remember the gay Chevalier of the 1920s and early 30s, the gay boulevardier with the straw hat and protruding underlip who captivated the English-speaking world with his "Louise" in the "Innocent of Paris," "The Smiling Lieutenant" and "The Merry Widow." Only the voice is left.

And then there are those watching who will remember that Mr. Cooper is in his mid-fifties and that Miss Hepburn is about 26 and they will think how silly he will look chasing ladies in his wheelchair. Or, maybe, it will be as Detective Chevalier said when Cooper asked him "Do You Know Me?" "Does an art student know Picasso?"

RINGS OF SATURN MADE OF SNOW, UNIVERSITY ASTRONOMER CLAIMS

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP)—Astronomer Gerard P. Kuiper said today he has established that the rings of Saturn are made of snow.

Kuiper, professor of astronomy at the University of Chicago's Yerkes Observatory, said he has also found that snow covers parts of Jupiter's satellites Nos. 2 and 3.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A sixth candidate today entered the Sept. 9 Delta by-election. Peter Gidora, 36-year-old Surrey mushroom farmer, has been named to contest the seat for the Labor-Progressive (Communist) party.

U.S. Newsmen to Visit Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today authorized 24 American reporters to go to Red China on a six-month experimental basis. (See story page 3.)

Western Powers Agree on Disarmament

LONDON (BUP) — Authoritative sources in London said today the Western Powers have reached total agreement on their package disarmament plan and will ask the NATO council to approve the plan Monday. The plan will be presented to Russia as soon as NATO approval is granted. The Western offer of a conditional two-year nuclear test suspension—revealed verbally at the London conference Wednesday—was the last peg to be fitted into the overall package plan.

RCAF Flies Island Child to Hospital

VANCOUVER (CP) — A child and a logger flown here after upcast accidents were recovering in Vancouver General Hospital today.

The child, six-year-old Kenneth Nissila, was flown by the RCAF from Holberg, at the north end of Vancouver Island, after he fell 20 feet from the porch of his home onto rocks. He is in fairly good condition.

Logger Thomas Gee, about 30, is in satisfactory condition with a skull fracture and back injuries. He was hit by a falling tree near Bella Coola.

England 283 for 5 in Fifth Test

LONDON (Reuters) — Centuries by Peter Richardson and Tom Graveney put England in a good position at the end of the first day in the final cricket test match against the West Indies at the Oval here.

England, already two up in the five-match series, scored 283 for five on a pitch which gave signs of helping spinners Tony Lock and Jim Laker later in the match.

Four Killed in New York Air Crash

$2,500 to Louis To Attend Hoffa Hearing, Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator John McClellan (Dem., Ark.) said today he has a report that former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis was paid $2,500 to sit at teamsters boss James R. Hoffa's recent bribery trial for two hours.

In Chicago, Louis said, "I didn't get twenty-five nothin'."

The former champion said he and Hoffa had been friends for 10 or 12 years and had gone to the trial expecting to be called as a character witness. He was not called.

"I wish I had $2,500," he commented. Hoffa was acquitted of the charge by a jury made up of eight Negroes and four white persons. Members of the jury said in later interviews that the racial issue had not entered into their decision.

McClellan told Hoffa about the report as the Midwest teamsters boss started a third day of quizzing by the Senate racket investigating committee about his alleged links with Continued on Page 6

HOW A SPACEMAN SEES THE EARTH

Panoramic view of earth's surface was taken on infrared film by Maj. David Simons on his balloon ascent Monday. Air Force technicians estimated his altitude at more than 50,000 feet when this view was taken, including storm clouds in centre. Image at upper right was reflection from surface of balloon's gondola.

Suicide Attempt Exposes Fiasco Of Tour Flights

OTTAWA (CP) — Arrangements are being made to have a government-chartered plane pick up 32 stranded Canadian tourists in Paris Sunday, external affairs department officials said Thursday.

The plane is one being used to ferry Hungarian refugees to Canada.

MONTREAL (CP) — A police guard was placed today on the hospital room of an unconscious man believed the key to the collapse of plans for three chartered flights carrying 200 passengers to and from Europe. Police said they would question him later.

Police said the man, a native of Finland, 33, is believed to be the travel agent who collected round-trip fares for the abortive special charter flights.

British United Press said the man was Jean Nymann, 33, and quoted Montreal police as saying he would be charged with attempted suicide if he recovers.

A group of 71 was left stranded Saturday at Paris on the homeward leg of a flight. A second fell through before it started this week at Montreal's Dorval airport. Sixty passengers showed up and waited in vain.

A third flight, due to leave Frankfurt, Germany, Sept. 11, has been cancelled. Non-payment of funds by the agent to the airline was blamed in each cancellation.

All the passengers were either new Canadians or Canadian residents visiting home.

The man now in a Ste. Adele, Que., hospital was found Wednesday in a hotel in the Laurentian town.

Doctors first speculated he was suffering from malnutrition and shock then diagnosed him as a victim of an overdose of sleeping tablets.

His wife, who identified him, said tearfully that "he's just a Continued on Page 6

City Builders Welcome Added Loans for Houses

Victoria builders and realtors today unanimously welcomed the federal government's action Wednesday in making $150,000,000 available for loans under the National Housing Act.

The move, announced by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, is designed to give immediate encouragement to construction of low price homes, and to combat winter unemployment.

Gilbert Brown, president, Victoria Building Industries Exchange, said the new money "will definitely give us a shot in the arm."

President of the Victoria Real Estate Board, Russell Ker, said the effect on the building market will be "very desirable."

The government's action

He saw the expanded scheme as a relaxing, in part, of the so-called "tight money" policy. Business agent for the carpenters' union here, James Moffat, affirmed that the money available would give the building industry "a needed transfusion."

A leading Vancouver builder said the $150,000,000 will be gone in two months.

"We're building 135,000 houses a year across Canada and this runs well over $2,000,000,000. The $150,000,000 loan wouldn't go very far," said G. E. Parfitt, president of the Vancouver Metropolitan House Builders' Association.

The government's action

means the full amount authorized under the act has been made available for house-building loans.

The former Liberal government had already lent $100,000,000 of the $250,000,000 authorized.

The loans will be available to home-owner applicants, builders and rental investors through chartered banks, insurance and loan and trust companies. These operate as agents of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

CMHC said the loans would bear the present 6 per cent NHA interest rates.

CITY GIRL VICTIM

8 Accidental Deaths Worst Toll in Years

By The Canadian Press

While British Columbia enjoyed one of the warmest days of the summer Wednesday, eight persons died in accidental deaths, making it the worst weekday for fatalities in years.

The causes of death were varied—a drowning, a mill accident, a fall from a hotel window, two traffic accidents, an accidental shooting, and a fire.

In Victoria, Karen Ramsey, 9, died after being struck by a truck. (See page 15 for story.)

Jerry Williams, 17, of Lytton, was drowned in the Thompson River when he was caught in a strong current where the Thompson is joined by the Fraser.

In Lytton hospital John Anthony Maynard, 16, of Shaw Springs, died from injuries suffered when his car rolled off an embankment Tuesday.

At Kamloops, Orval Giauque died after a fall Tuesday from a second-storey window in a hotel. At Craigellachie, four-year-old Russell Hall Walters was shot by a .22 rifle held by his brother Lawrence, 7. Russell died today.

In Vancouver, Brian Singh, about 70, died of burns suffered when a two-storey wooden house was badly damaged. And at Fraser Mills, 20 miles east, John Kenny, 42, was crushed to death in a barking machine.

Eight-year-old Douglas Wetmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wetmore of Vancouver, was drowned Wednesday night at Okanagan Landing near Vernon. An inquest will be held Friday.

Them stranded Canadians ain't likely t' fergit "th' last time I saw Paris."

Wonder how important half our troubles look from 19 miles up?

It's usually a race whether yer mortgage gets retired b'fore you do.

Talk With Sloan Set September 3

Attorney-General Bonner hinted today that the government is close to agreement with the B.C. Government Employees' Association on a new bargaining procedure for the province's 14,000 civil servants.

It may not be necessary for Chief Justice Gordon Sloan to hold "full-scale hearings" into the matter, the attorney-general said.

"While there is not complete agreement, there is a general agreement between the parties on what is required," Mr. Bonner said.

Chief Justice Sloan was appointed a one-man Board of Reference in the settlement of the threatened civil service strike last month.

Both sides met with the Chief Justice here Wednesday and agreed to continue joint discussions. They will meet him again Sept. 3.

The Board of Reference was set up to inquire into the bargaining procedure laid down in the Civil Service Act and make recommendations.

Both the government and the employees' association agreed to accept Chief Justice Sloan's findings.

The association has demanded that government employees be given full bargaining rights, with recourse to arbitration if necessary.

At their first meeting last month with Chief Justice Sloan, both sides agreed to "narrow down" the issue between themselves before the inquiry.

Flattopped Toppers Suggested When Queen Sees Football Game

LONDON (UP) — John Taylor, Britain's top arbiter of men's fashions, got to musing recently about Queen Elizabeth's visit to the North Carolina-Maryland football game in October and what should the dignitaries wear.

Top hats and tails, of course, he thought, or more properly, morning clothes.

And then he got to thinking about those top hats which would cut off the view of those sitting behind. What would you do? Flatten them a little? Bore holes in them?

Obviously not, thought Taylor, who is the editor of the trade magazine Tailor and Cutter and whose word on men's fashions is law in the British Isles.

But his musings had been aloud and little did he know the furor his thoughts had caused.

The first set of rumors hit Saville Row, the capital of English gentlemen's tailoring: "Somebody is cutting the tops off of top hats for the royal party to wear in Baltimore for the football game."

One version got into a London newspaper quoting the Tailor and Cutter's famous editor as prescribing stovepipe hats with abbreviated chinneys.

"It all happened because a chap from Baltimore rang me up and asked what the mayor of Baltimore should wear to that football game," Taylor explained today.

"I naturally thought of morning dress, as we call it. It is not so silly a suggestion. There is an old tradition in England that the directors of football clubs and guests sitting in their boxes wear formal dress."

"That style has gone out now, but why couldn't the Maryland officials resurrect it in honor of the Queen's visit?"

That was when he got to throwing about the problem of a top hat and how it would block the view of fans.

"Now if you cut the crown a little . . . narrowed the brim . . ." he mused. "Know what a Gauchos hat looks like."

"Of course I was not serious," Taylor said. "It was just a joke—but what I started!"

By Canadian Press

VANCOUVER—A daylight robber snatched $800 in cash from a wicket at the Hudson's Bay Company store here Wednesday.

LCB Profits For Schools Is Tory Idea

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP) —

The money could be raised by transferring the $23,500,000 tax revenue from liquor sales in 1956 to the school program.

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) — Del Black, Progressive Conservative candidate in the forthcoming Burnaby by-election, called Wednesday night for the formation of an independent highway commission made up of competent engineers and economists to assist the minister of highways.

Mr. Black said in an address here the provincial government had apparently shown a lack of foresight in failing to construct overpasses or crossings in the broadening of the Lougheed Highway.

The Centennial Hounds

What's that, my boy? You don't know anything about the history of B.C.? Well, you'd better start getting some of it under your belt and into your mind because the centennial hounds are beginning to bay, and, by this time next year, they'll be in full historical cry!

1858-1958. But don't kid yourself that you can get away with only knowing what happened in that 100 years, Nossir. To see the whole picture, you must know what happened in this neck of the woods before 1858.

You must have some idea of what was happening on the rest of the continent, and why Britain, Russia, Spain and the young United States came into the history of B.C.

Because after all, our history didn't just happen on its own.

Yes, 1958 is going to be a tough year, boy.

Think of the centennial year as a birthday banquet, if you like. And think of all you'll have to digest as you go through it from soup to nuts.

There'll be the voyages of discovery, apocryphal and otherwise.

There'll be the Maritime Fur Trade and the poor sea-otter. (Quick now, give me ten British, American, Spanish and Indian names connected with this period.)

With luck—and a bit of intellectual effort—you'll get the atmosphere of the coastal exploration, and the different attitudes of the exploration that came overland across the mountains. (Where did they almost meet in 1793? Why would that meeting have been so dramatic? Who were the two famous men I'm thinking of?)

That first overland exploration was by fur traders.

Who were the three you simply mustn't forget?

Why were the rivers so important?

Well, let's see if you can do a little better on the forts. Perhaps you can tell me the significance of Fort McLeod, Fort St. James, Fort Fraser, and Fort George? They're all in the same portion of what is now B.C. Why?

And now that you've put your mind on forts and fur, you'd better switch it on to gold.

What did gold do to us in terms of population, communication and political development? What was 1958 chosen as the centennial year? After all, Fort Victoria was earlier than 1858, and we've always liked to think that we're the whole of British Columbia!

No, don't hold your head in your hands and moan in that exaggerated way. It's not all bunk by any means.

The Centennial is going to bring its share of headaches and carnage on the roads. There'll be a lot of nonsense talked, a lot of quarrelling over local projects, and a lot of gloating over the tourist dollars that'll pour into the province.

But, behind the promotion part and publicity stunts, the problems and the plans, the feuds and fun, a centennial year is serious and magnificent.

It's a stock taking really. A chance to stop bouncing and rushing. A chance to stand back and look at what we are and where we come from.

Perhaps we shall know then where we're going, and what's the best thing we can do for posterity.

Clean Greenhouses Aid Plant Growth

Spring-cleaning and fall-cleaning are associated with turmoil in the home, but summer-cleaning is something reserved for the greenhouse.

Since the greenhouse is predominantly a place where young things are reared, conditions inside should resemble a hospital, but with more enjoyable odors.

Healthy plants are obtained with greater ease in a structure which receives an annual scrubbing because light intensity is increased and pests and diseases reduced.

Tools for the job include a pail, scrubbrush, a few old shirts, castile or naphtha soap, warm water, a garden hose, a little disinfectant such as lysol, and a small stepladder.

A window brush on a four foot handle and a vacuum cleaner, if you can get away with it, are useful additions.

BURNED

The vacuum cleaner will pick up insects, eggs, and disease spores from corners difficult to clean in any other way, and the contents should be burned when the vacuuming is completed.

Scrubbing with the warm water-soap-disinfectant solution should be thoroughly done, and finished off by rinsing the structure with a good jet from the hose.

Cleaning the glass inside and outside completes the job, excepting for the needed repair work which usually becomes apparent when the greenhouse is worked over inch by inch.

YOUR HEALTH

Tic Douloureux

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Tic douloureux is a horrible disease that comes usually to old ladies. It is a terrible neuralgia that comes in spells, sometimes touched off by talking, or touching a certain part of the face, or eating, or getting in a draft. Sometimes I can recognize these people on the street because the woman has a shawl around her neck and face.

The sad thing is that usually these people get all their good teeth removed—which never does a particle of good. There is a type of terrible neuralgia due to the presence of a dead pulp under a filling, but usually one can recognize this in a minute by noting that the awful jab of pain comes when one eats or drinks something hot. This causes the gas in the pulp chamber to expand and press on the dying nerve.

In true tic douloureux the only procedures that do any good are, first, to have the big ganglion on the fifth nerve at the base of the brain injected, either with boiling water or alcohol. If, later, the pain comes back, the ganglion can be uncovered with the new type of operation, or it can be destroyed with the old type of operation. This work has to be done by an expert who can be found in a big medical centre.

FITLESS EPILEPSY

Since I have written about persons who have equivalents of epilepsy, or have a type of epilepsy in which there are no fits, or in which perhaps there were a few in early childhood, many persons have asked me where to go to get relief. There must be a few million of these unhappy people in the world. Most of them tell me that they have a violent and sometimes vile temper. Some are distressed because they feel so antagonistic to so many people, or they get into fights with people when they tried hard not to. Some are highly nervous and go to psychiatrists.

Many of them tell me, when I ask them, that their stream of consciousness is not continuous. For instance, the other day, when I asked a woman, who I suspected might be an epileptic, if she ever noticed a break in her stream of consciousness, she said, "Yes, I am glad you asked that. When I'm under the dryer at a beauty parlor, suddenly the noise will go off, and then, as suddenly, it will come back again." Other women tell me they will find themselves in a room without any memory of how they got there. In many of these cases, an electroencephalogram or record of the tiny electric currents being formed in the brain shows a typical epileptic picture. If I ask the person if there is epilepsy or a tendency to violent temper or alcoholism in her family, she will usually say "Yes; I know where this comes from."

Many of these patients I have been able to help tremendously with the help of Dilantin or others of the new anticonvulsive drugs. I have several salesmen who tell me that now as they take the drug, their sales have tripled and quadrupled because they no longer get into fights with their customers. A woman of 55, who never in her life was able to work because of the stresses of an unrecognized epilepsy, is now happy, and earning her living as a teacher of music. Dilantin made a new woman of her overnight.

Several of my patients who came to me suffering tortures with horrible headaches immediately became free on Dilantin. Other patients who were suffering from what looked like attacks of peritonitis with severe abdominal pain or terrible retching are now free on Dilantin.

The best advice I can give to people with symptoms such as I describe is to write to Mr. Gray, of the National Epilepsy League (130 N. Wells St., Chicago 6, Illinois).

FOOD AND HARDENING OF THE ARTERIES

Recently, the American Medical Association's Council on Foods and Nutrition summed up present knowledge on the subject of diet and hardening of the arteries, saying that their conclusion was that quite a bit more study will have to be made before we doctors can start telling our patients just which fats not to eat. When the other day I sat at breakfast with a prominent physician and told him this, he immediately called the waiter and said, "Bring me three eggs and bacon. Oh, boy; for the last six months my wife hasn't let me have a single egg!"

We doctors just don't know enough yet, and we don't agree about many items. The quantity of fat eaten may still be as important as the nature of the fat. As I doubtless have said before in this column, during the next year or two experts will give us much information which we now lack. Until I have this information, all I am asking my patients to do is to eat just enough to maintain a normal weight.

TUG EN ROUTE FOR 'FACELIFT'

Resting in slings suspended from the Vancouver salvage vessel Recoveror, the tug Nanaimo Flyer was raised 150 feet from the floor of Dodd Narrows, where it had lain since it was sunk Aug. 1 by one of the empty chip scows it was towing through the treacherous waterway. Skin divers attached the slings to the vessel, which was taken to Madill Shipyard in Nanaimo for inspection and temporary repair. It is expected the tug will be taken to Vancouver for thorough overhaul.—(Flett Studio photo.)

Wedged in Two Walls 20 Hours, Tot Saved

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UP)—A chubby, three-year-old girl, wedged between two buildings for 20 hours, was dug out by a wrecking company crew today. The child, Eileen Fahey, was crying as rescuers brought her through a cheering and weeping crowd of 1,000 persons. Eileen was taken to Rhode Island Hospital in a waiting ambulance. "Thank God," her father, John M. Fahey, 39, a railroad brakeman, said when the girl was lifted from her cramped tomb through a hole hammered by rescuers. She had slipped into the eight-inch space Wednesday, apparently while chasing a kitten. Through the night, 400 searchers hunted through basements, box cars and along the banks of the nearby Seekonk River trying to find her. This morning, 19-year-old Gerald Desroches spotted Eileen when he leaned out a window to shake breakfast crumbs from a table cloth. He saw her chubby arm extended upward. She was 15 feet back inside the space between a low garage and a two-story tenement. Her head was pinioned between the buildings. She was almost silent—barely whimpering. One red shoe was pulled out first. Her father paced the floor of the garage, holding the tiny shoe in his hand, red-eyed from a sleepless night of searching. "Hold it, baby doll," said Battalion Fire Chief James Coleman as blows were rained on the wall. Oil was poured over her head to ease it out from the narrow space. The brown-haired child cried softly as she was hauled to

AT LADYSMITH Action Promised On Highway

LADYSMITH (CP)—Anything left undone in connection with the Trans-Canada Highwayway through Ladysmith will be corrected, Highways Minister Gagliardi assured Mayor L. T. Ryan and works chairman P. R. Battle Tuesday. Mayor Ryan said today he is well pleased with the hearing. He said there are a lot of details that the minister is not familiar with in regard to the curbing left unfinished after highway construction was carried out last year. Mr. Gagliardi had made a note of these and said everything would be taken care of. Aid, Battle explained that lack of curbing is causing basement flooding in homes along the route, because the new highway level is higher than the sidewalks.

'Skid Road' PNE Parade Criticized

VANCOUVER (CP)—The "Skid Road" route of a Pacific National Exhibition parade which brought record crowds into downtown Vancouver was criticized after the parade ended Wednesday. Newspaper reporters said street-corner drunks hurled vulgarities at beauty queens and drum majorettes as the procession wended its way through drab streets in the city's East End. "The best Skid Road parade in history," said one PNE official. Police estimated 335,000 watched the procession.

... FIASCO

Continued From Page 1 poor businessman, but not dishonest. She said he collapsed last Christmas when the third of three flights he arranged to Paris did not materialize. "He just doesn't know how to handle a business," she said. "He has five charter flights to his credit and failed with three others, besides this last stranded trip Saturday." He was found behind a "do not disturb" sign on his hotel door. The manager said he heard groans. Notes littered the floor, one addressed to the manager and another to a lawyer. A third slip of paper bore a list of names with amounts of money noted beside each. The man's wife was summoned to his bedside, and she identified him as the proprietor of a Montreal travel agency. Another 65 persons are in Europe now—on a flight arranged by the same man, known to his clients as Mr. Lindstrom. Their return flight is set for Sept. 11, but it is believed that their plane has not been paid for either. Spokesman for the groups said each passenger paid $350 for the return trip. The total amount involved is said to be at least $60,000. The external affairs department in Ottawa is studying the problem of getting the stranded vacationers back to Canada.

TORONTO 'FATHERS' CHECK 'GIRLIE' SHOW

The aldermen said they are prepared to take steps against "nudity and suggestiveness." The aldermen are Donald Summerville, Philip Givens, Frank Clifton and Kenneth Ostrander.

Gulf Islanders Protest Lack of Space on Ferry

PENDER ISLAND (CP)—Gulf island residents are protesting lack of space for residents and commuters on the car ferry Cy Peck. They have filed protests with the highway department and with the Gulf Islands Ferry Co. of Ganges, which operates the twice-a-day service to the outer islands from Swartz Bay, North Saanich. They say round-trip passengers have used the "first-come, first-served" prerogative with such success this summer that island residents and tourists travelling to and from the various islands find it increasingly difficult to find ferry space. Sometimes, they say, after a final car has been squeezed aboard the driver is barred because he would be passenger No. 101. So he is compelled to travel to Swartz Bay by launch to reclaim his car. In a statement to the Pender Island Farmers' Institute, Gagliardi as soon as he returns ferry company president Gavin to Victoria next week.
